SENATE WORKS OVERTIME ON TAX MEASURE

Cancels Saturday Recess, Meets Hour Earlier; Passage Of Bill by Night Expected.

BIGGEST IN U. S. HISTORY

LaFollette Amendments Come Up Today; Victory Levy To Take 5 Per Cent.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON — The senate works overtime today to pass the most gigantic tax bill in history, including the stiffest income levies ever imposed on the American taxpayer.

Foregoing its usual Saturday recess and meeting an hour early for the fifth consecutive day, the chamber expects to complete action on the $8,000,000,000 bill before nightfall. Senate Democratic Leader Alben W. Barkley hopes the job can be done in four hours.

After approving the new five per cent "victory tax" on individual gross incomes over $12-a-week and rejecting President Roosevelt's request for higher social security levies, the senate was close to passage late yesterday.

But when leaders learned that Sen. Robert M. La Follette, Prog., Wis., had additional amendments, they postponed final action.

La Follette has three proposals under consideration, and may offer all of them. They are:

1. Repeal of the present depletion allowance on oil and gas wells and certain mines, in accordance with treasury recommendations, to plug "loopholes" in existing law and raise $124,000,000 more annually. For oil and gas wells, the present depletion allowance is 27½ per cent; for sulphur mines, 23 per cent; for metal mines, 15 per cent; and for coal mines, 5 per cent.

2. Increased individual surtaxes, to raise another $208,000,000. La Follette wants to ease the rate on the first $500 of taxable income but increase it on the middle and higher brackets to a top rate of 84 per cent on income above $200,000. This compares with a top surtax rate in the senate bill of 82 per cent.

3. Higher estate and gift taxes, to raise an additional $193,000,000.

Mansfield Keeps Eyes on Speed; No Arrests In Week

Mansfielders have readily caught the spirit of the government's 35-mile speed limit, according to Traffic Commissioner Frend C. Boals in calling attention to the fact that no speeding arrests have been made by his patrolmen since last week-end when two were apprehended.

With travelers reporting a general adherence to the reduced speed regulation directed by various war agencies as a means of conserving tires and gasoline, state highway patrolmen reported but two arrests since last Sunday.

Frank N. Satter, Cleveland, was released last night on an Auto club bond following his arrest by state patrolmen on the charge of driving 62 miles an hour on Route 42-N.

Earl W. Bishop, 173 South Main street, was arrested this morning by the state patrol charged with exceeding a 50-mile speed on Route 13. He was cited to appear in municipal court Monday morning.

Within the city limits the maximum speed had been fixed at 35 miles by city ordinance two years ago. In recent weeks the traffic department extended the 20 and 25-mile zones through many residential districts and a rigid campaign against excessive speeds has brought a current minimum of violations, Boals said.

Don't Sell U. S. Warplanes Short, Warns American Correspondent, Who's Seen Them on Job In Europe

(A trans-Atlantic controversy has raged over the relative merits of American fighting planes. Joe Alex Morris, United Press foreign editor, has been in Britain for six weeks, watching the Allied war effort at first hand. Here he reports what he has seen and what he has been told about American fighting planes.)

* * *

By JOE ALEX MORRIS
(United Press Foreign Editor)

LONDON — Don't sell American war planes short.

That comes from the men who know—the airmen of the United States and Britain.

They feel that there has been a great deal of bunk written regarding the performance of American planes.

Both American and British experts now are convinced of the following:

1. America has planes—including fighters—that compare favorably with the best in the world.

2. America is on the right track with its airplane production which may prove even more important in winning the war.

Like most Americans, my own experience with planes has been limited to riding in comfortable passenger planes. I had always had the impression that our commercial aviation was the best in the world.

It was disturbing to return to the European war theater eight months after the United States became a belligerent and hear bitter criticism—even scoffing—at our aircraft, compared with Spitfires and Messerschmitts.

Battle experience is bringing out the fighting qualities of American aircraft.

For example, the North American Mustang fighter was tested at Dieppe and showed

FAVORS COURSE TO SPUR SCHOOL WAR INTEREST

Bond Chairman Says Pupils Should Be Taught Their Part In War Effort.

A course in war preparedness and an essay contest to stimulate interest among Senior high school pupils in the war effort was proposed today by J. O. Hanley, chairman of the educational section of the Richland county war bond and stamp committee.

Hanley said he believed that pupils of all ages should be taught the importance of "doing their part to win the war whether it's buying war stamps, collecting scrap, building their health, or just keeping quiet so war plant employes can get their rest."

He suggested that themes on some phase of the war program would impress upon the minds of the older pupils the seriousness of war and at the same time would create a competitive spirit.

Meanwhile, Hanley reported that pupils in the public schools have purchased $3,379 worth of stamps and bonds since the school campaign started last spring while St. Peter's parochial pupils have bought stamps and bonds amounting to $1,927.

Sales so far this fall in the public schools total $618.95. St. Peter's school pupils have purchased $104.20 worth of stamps and bonds since school opened last month.

Hanley said his committee is considering the payroll deduction plan for teachers, but no deductions can be made from pay checks until the state department of education changes its regulations to permit it. Under the present setup, Hanley said, deductions are made only for insurance and amounts paid into hospitalization programs.

CANDIDATE ILL

Lutz Undergoes Operation; Condition Satisfactory.

Ralph C. Lutz, Lexington, former Richland county representative to the general assembly and Democratic candidate for that office at the November election, underwent an emergency operation for appendicitis at 6 p. m. yesterday at General hospital.

Hospital attaches said he rallied satisfactorily after the operation and his condition was good today.

Although Lutz had been receiving treatment for a stomach ailment, his health had shown improvement recently. He was stricken with the attack yesterday and immediately taken to the hospital. He had been scheduled to speak last night at a meeting of the Richland County Society of Old Age Pensioners.

BANDITS GET $3,335

CHICAGO—(INS)—Three bandits who slugged Henry Niesen, 37, currency exchange operator, and escaped with $3,335 were sought by Chicago police today. The bandits accosted Niesen while he was transferring currency from one exchange to another.

20 Boys and Girls Made This Scrap Pile

Twenty boys and girls in the northeast section of the city have worked for the past week to collect this pile of scrap. Included in the heap which is back of the Frank Mitsch store on Central avenue are a car, a section of fence, a metal drum, a bed, and other large articles. All school pupils from the fourth to eighth grades, they gathered approximately three tons of materials. Shown in the picture, left to right, are Arthur Curatti, Joseph Hetler, Chris Geisel, Georgene Fetter, and Bob Michalski, all of whom participated in the drive.

High Students Get Scrappy, Collect Junk on Saturday

Senior high school pupils got in the scrap for scrap in earnest today.

Taking up the challenge that high school pupils are "too big" to collect scrap, they ignored the Saturday holiday, and went to work gathering up salvage materials for the war effort.

The drive got under way at Senior high school after the "M" association and the Vocational club met yesterday and outlined an intensive drive for the school.

"The scrap pile on the Senior high lawn won't be so embarrassing when we get through," one of the pupils said this morning as he tossed a heavy hunk of iron onto the still small but growing heap.

The two school organizations are taking the initiative in the drive and are being directed by Coach Paul Snyder and W. M. Mickey. Heading the Vocational club's salvage committee are Tom Swartzkopf, Jack Meeting and Ben Sorg. Charles Condon and William Boyd represent the "M" association.

Three trucks from the vocational department are being used for the collection.

Next week an even more intensive campaign will get under way in the elementary schools. Pupils from the fourth, fifth and sixth grades will be dismissed Wednesday noon to devote the rest of the day to gathering scrap.

In other Ohio cities, high school pupils are getting fun out of their war work.

Three attractive senior girls at East high school in Columbus borrowed men's work shirts and pitched in with the other students. They have collected

DIMS DIM-OUT

Pacific Coast Regulation Are Tightened by Army.

SAN FRANCISCO —(AP)— Pacific coast states were placed under new and stricter dim-out regulations today.

Lieut. Gen. J. L. DeWitt, head of the western defense command and fourth army, changed his dim-out regulations of Aug. 20 to provide that in restricted zones essentially all light visible from above, including street lighting, now must be shielded.

Restrictions on lights visible from the sea remain essentially the same.

In addition, the army broadened its previous description of areas "visible from the sea" to include central and southern California coastal regions fronting on various bays.

GOES TO DAILY BASIS

LONDON—(AP)—The Stars and Stripes, American newspaper which was published weekly in the last war, announced today it would begin publication on a six-day basis starting Nov. 1.

NOT TOO WARM

68 Degrees Set As Maximum For Federal Buildings.

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Federal Works Administrator Philip B. Fleming today fixed 68 degrees as the basic temperature this winter for the nation's federal buildings.

Fuel oil rationing to householders in the 30-state rationing area is based on a daytime temperature of 65 degrees.

CHAMBER SEES 700 ENROLLED

Teams Pass Goal of 648 as Drive Closes; Plan 'Victory Dinner.'

Hitting the membership mark of 684 by the time their drive closed last night, workers' teams conducting the Mansfield Chamber of Commerce campaign indicated that the organization would have approximately 700 members after the remaining few prospects had been reached.

A "victory dinner" for all chamber members participating in the drive will be held at the Mansfield-Leland hotel Thursday at 6:30 p. m. to celebrate the success of the campaign.

Eighty-two new members were obtained by the campaign so far, only slightly less than the number enrolled last year.

The distribution of prizes to teams scoring the most points in the drive will be a highlight of the "victory dinner" along with talks by various chairmen and chamber officials.

Donated by individuals to give impetus to the drive the prizes consist of cash, war savings stamps and merchandise. The donors include President Remy, C. L. Van Derau, Charles Kafer, C. M. Crafton, George Stevens and C. H. Henkel.

The four teams scoring more than 400 points will head the list of prize winners and two other

TOUHY ESCAPE THREATENS NEW KILLING WAVE

Police In Chicago Gird For Outbreak as Gangster Makes Good Getaway.

(By United Press)

CHICAGO—Police feared today that Terrible Roger Touhy and other select murderers and cutthroats from the Statesville prison had succeeded in reaching friends and a hide-out in the local underworld and grimly preparing for a wave of killings in the style of pre-repeal Chicago.

A car containing three men and traveling 85 miles an hour sped around a state police barricade on the highway at Elmhurst, on the outskirts of Chicago, last night, undeterred by the hail of bullets state policemen fired after it.

If the car contained Touhy, he was accompanied by Basil (The Owl) Banghart, 41, machine-gunner of his old gang and as ruthless a murderer as the underworld ever produced, and James O'Connor, 35, a bandit and gunman, who was not a member of the old gang but was believed to have helped Touhy, 44, engineer the break from Illinois' "model" prison yesterday afternoon.

Four other convicts, all of equally desperate stripe, escaped with them and probably have gone their separate ways. Touhy and Banghart were serving 99-year sentences for kidnaping Jake (The Barber) Factor. O'Connor was in for life for banditry. The other four were William Stewart, 43, serving life as a habitual criminal; St. Clair McInerny, serving life as a habitual criminal; Matthew Nelson, 40, life for banditry; Edward Darlak, 32, serving 199 years for murdering a Chicago policeman.

Jake the Barber lost not a moment demanding police protection and rushing to his apartment where he probably will stay until Touhy and Banghart who went to prison because of his testimony are recaptured.

2 HAVE TYPHOID

Cases Reported In Ontario Vicinity; Milk Tested.

Two definitely diagnosed cases of typhoid fever in the western part of Richland county were reported today by Dr. W. B. Wild, city-county health commissioner, who added that several suspected cases are being studied.

All are in the vicinity of Ontario, Dr. Wild said. Laboratory tests are being made of milk supplies in that area together with state health department analysis of water used for home consumption.

Canned foods also are coming within the range of the follow-through tests along with an extensive checkup on personal contacts between known victims and those who could have been exposed to the malady.

BACK ON JOBS

Chrysler Workers, Sent Home for Smoking, Resume Output.

DETROIT —(UP)— Full schedules on war production resumed at the Chrysler Corp., Jefferson avenue plant today after a one-day walkout by 2,000 workers in sympathy with 400 others sent home for smoking on the job.

A Chrysler spokesman said a full shift reported and was put to work this morning and that the plant rule against smoking on the job remains in effect.

ADMITS LOSSES

Italy Says Its Casualties for September Were 12,000.

ROME—(Italian Broadcast Recorded By UP In New York)—An Italian war communique reported that Italian losses on all fronts last month totalled 12,936 men, including 7,084 killed, wounded or missing on the Russian front.

Russian Relief Forces Repulse German Drives

Stalingrad Defenders Turn Back Two Attempts to Reach Volga; Reds Admit Losses to South and Face Astrakhan Threat.

(By International News Service)

MOSCOW—Five forceful counter-attacks by the German army northwest of Stalingrad were crushed today by Russian troops battling to lift the siege of the industrial city on the Volga.

The Soviet high command announced the defeat of the Nazi attempts to stem the drive by its relief forces in a communique issued at noon.

Heavy casualties were suffered by the Nazis when their assaults were beaten back, the communique said.

At Stalingrad itself ferocious duels were fought between Soviet and German machine-gun and mortar artillery units.

The Russian defenders clung tenaciously to their positions inside the city and repelled all Nazi attempts to advance, the high command said.

The German air force was pictured in dispatches from the Stalingrad front as playing just as an important role 46 days after the struggle for the metropolis began as on the first day. The reports said the Nazis were maintaining an "all out" aerial effort to stem the Soviet advance from northwest of Stalingrad.

Stukas roared over the Russians with their sirens screaming, even though the bomber racks of the planes were empty.

As for Stalingrad itself, the Stalin-built city was said to have been three-quarters destroyed in the first German 1,000-bomber raid seven weeks ago. The Germans were said to be still dropping bombes at the rate of a thousand loads daily.

In the mid-Caucasus the Russian defense forces also held firm against concerted Nazi tank and infantry assaults seeking to batter through the Soviet positions toward the Grozny oil fields.

A break-through by German mechanized forces into Soviet positions southeast of the Black Sea naval base of Novorossisk was admitted in the communique.

The high command said that the Germans scored their advance after assaulting the position for three days. Heavy fighting was said to be continuing in the vicinity of the break-through.

Soviet artillery forces, the communique said, destroyed Nazi-held pillboxes in local engagements on the Leningrad front far to the northwest.

Dispatches from the Stalingrad front said that Russian troops battling in the city's streets had smashed two Nazi attempts to drive through the city to the banks of the Volga and at the same time dislodged the Germans from positions in a factory settlement on Stalingrad's outskirts.

But a new threat to the Russian position in the Caucasus was reported in a German drive toward Astrakhan on the Caspian sea, at the mouth of the Volga.

This drive was reported by the government newspaper Izvestia to be developing in the Kalmuck region, approximately midway between Stalingrad and Mozdok.

(Berlin claimed the capture of Elista, capital of the Kalmuck dis-

JUBILANT: Army Fliers Hold Raid Answers U. S. Plane Critics

(By United Press)

LONDON—Germany retorted angrily but weakly today to a United States army bomber attack which cost it an estimated 46 of its challenging fighters and left the biggest locomotive works in France in flaming chaos.

Air raid sirens shrieked in the London area during the morning rush hour in the first daylight alarm in months, when a lone enemy reconnaissance plane streaked across the home counties outside the city.

A lone raider bombed a southeast coast town. Four Messerschmitt fighter-bombers, attempting to attack a southeast coast town, were driven off and jettisoned their bombs in open fields.

Meanwhile, jubilant crews of U. S. Army bombers, claiming a bag of 41 German planes themselves in their attack on Lille yesterday, in addition to five downed by escort fighters, said they had given their answer to critics of American military planes.

The army put into its attack perhaps the most formidable planes the world has ever seen in new Consolidated B-24's, in action for the first time, and Boeing Flying Fortress B-17E's.

Escorted by their own fighter planes and British, Canadian, French, Norwegian, Czechoslovak and Polish-flown fighters of the Royal Air Force, the four-motored Boeing Flying Fortresses and Consolidated Liberators led the greatest daylight attack of the war on occupied territory.

The fighters shot down five planes for a total day's bag of 46.

In this entire operation by 100

THREAT: Demands Mass Air Raids for Prisoner Shackling

(By United Press)

LONDON—A demand that the Allies start mass air raids on Berlin unless Germany stops shackling British war prisoners was made on the government today by Edward L. Granville, liberal party member of parliament and a four-year veteran of the last war.

"Let the German people know by wireless, in a statement by the prime minister, that the raids will start unless the prisoners are unshackled," he said in a speech at High Wycombe.

He urged that prompt firm measures were necessary in behalf of British prisoners, including Canadians.

The Canadian government announced last night that it would shackle at noon today a number of German prisoners equal to the Canadian prisoners shackled by the Germans unless the German high command rescinded its shackling order against 107 officers and 1,260 enlisted men captured at Dieppe.

The British Press association reported that it understood the shackling had already been carried out.

Germany had ordered the shackling on the allegation that German prisoners had been fettered by Britain.

Britain, refuting the charge and offering to prove it false through the Swiss legation from the mouths of German prisoners themselves, in turn said that it would shackle Germans.

In consultation with the Canadian government, it was decided that some of the thousands of

About Babies, Herbs and Nurses

Like baby pictures? Then, you're cordially invited to a News-Journal showing of what happened this week at the well-baby clinic.

You'll find the babies in the Sunday edition just as the cameraman found them at city hall—grinning, yowling, and having a wonderful time!.

* * *

When we says "herbs" we don't mean a bunch of abbreviations for Herbert; we mean plants of economic value that a number of Mansfield women grew last summer in anticipation of a war-caused shortage.

The women belong to the Linnaeus Garden club and they are displaying some of their choice plants at the Public library. Pictures and text take you to the exhibit.

What is it like—a day in the life of a nurses' aid. Again, camera and story will tell you exactly, in the Sunday edition.

And they'll tell you how this particular nurses' aid manages to help at the hospital and still raise a family of three daughters.

Rationing is the mother of invention. Richland county has a minister who is also a teacher and since he can't get tires to drive to his teaching jobs, he hitch-hikes! You can read his story tomorrow.

There's an interesting interview, too, with Loudonville's most famous son—now head of the national inventors' council. He's C. F. Kettering and he tells you his views on the cause of the present war.

BIG SISTER

MRS. SPUDY SEEMS TO THINK THAT HER BOY, ELMER, CAN'T BE MADE TO WORK.
WELL, I'VE AN IDEA THAT HE CAN. ALL HE NEEDS IS THE PROPER INCENTIVE.--AND WE NEED A ROOT-CELLAR.
SINCE I HAVE HER CONSENT TO TRY - WELL, I THINK I CAN FURNISH THE INCENTIVE FOR ELMER.
FORGRAVE
YOU'VE BEEN MIGHTY GOOD BOYS ABOUT HELPING WITH THE CANNING. IT WAS HARD WORK, I KNOW.
WITH EVERYBODY HELPING, IT WAS FUN!
EVERYBODY, BUT ELMER, THAT IS!
THAT BOY IS A WONDER WHEN IT COMES TO SIDE-STEPPING WORK.
I'M WONDERING IF THERE ISN'T SOME WAY OF INSPIRING HIM TO WORK WE DO NEED A ROOT-CELLAR.
INSPIRE WHO? ELMER? NOT A CHANCE!
I'M NOT SO SURE. YOU KNOW, I PROMISED YOU A PICNIC TOMORROW. HE'LL BE THERE WE'LL TRY A LITTLE PLAN I HAVE IN MIND.
FORGRAVE
ALL RIGHT! WE'LL GO DOWN TO THE RIVER BANK FOR OUR PICNIC!
AND IF I DON'T MISS MY GUESS, WE'LL FIND ELMER ALONG - THERE! WHAT DID I TELL YOU?
WOULDN'T YOU KNOW IT!
WHAT'S THE IDEA? AIN'T YOU WORKIN' TODAY? I WAS THINKIN' I'D HELP YOU SOME MORE!
WHAT DO YOU MEAN, "THUM MORE?"
NO! WE'RE HAVING A PICNIC! DON'T YOU REMEMBER?
OH, YES! THAT'S SO! I'D FORGOT! MIND IF I JOIN YOU?

DID YOU FIND WHAT YOU WERE LOOKING FOR, BETH? DID YOU BRING IT?
YEP! I HAVE IT WITH ME. I'LL WAIT TILL WE'VE HAD OUR SWIM AND THEN SPRING IT.
FORGRAVE
DON'T STAY IN TOO LONG, BOYS. - I'LL WAIT FOR YOU HERE ON THE SAND
I'M GETTIN' GOOD AND HUNGRY. HOW SOON DO WE EAT?
I GUESS AS SOON AS WE'VE HAD OUR SWIM.
THEN I'VE HAD MINE RIGHT NOW!
WHAT'S BETH SQUAWKIN' ABOUT UP THERE?
SHE'S FOUND SOMETHING!
WHAT IS IT?
I DON'T KNOW FOR SURE IT LOOKS LIKE AN OLD COIN OF SOME SORT.
FORGRAVE
I WAS JUST SITTING HERE IN THE SAND AND I DUG MY TOES IN -

HONEST-I WISHT I WASN'T SUCH A DUMB OX-I TOLD MRS. RANCE I WAS SURE HER LOST BABY WOULD COME BACK TO HER--
AN' I WASN'T FOOLIN', 'CAUSE I WOULDN'T TELL HER ANY LIES -IT'S JUST THAT I FEEL SURE THE BABY IS COMIN' BACK-
BUT I DON'T KNOW HOW IT'S COMIN' BACK OR WHEN- I WISH I COULD FIGGER OUT WHAT TO DO TO HELP--
I DON'T EVEN KNOW WHAT MAKES ME SO SURE THE BABY IS COMIN' BACK-AN' STILL I CAN'T HELP KNOWIN' THAT IT IS--
DARRELL McCLURE
YOU MADE MRS. RANCE VERY HAPPY WHEN YOU TOLD HER YOU WERE SURE HER LOST BABY WOULD BE FOUND--
WELL, I AM SURE -CROSS MY HEART AN' HOPE TO DIE, IF I'M NOT-
BUT WHAT MAKES YOU SO CERTAIN??
MRS. RANCE HIRED DOZENS OF DETECTIVES- BUT THEY ALL FAILED- HAVE YOU ANY SPECIAL REASON FOR FEELING SO SURE?
NO, MA'AM-THERE'S NO SPECIAL REASON- BUT I JUST CAN'T HELP FEELIN' THAT WAY--
BLESS YOUR WARM, LITTLE HEART, CHILD- YOU MIGHT BE RIGHT- MIRACLES CAN HAPPEN-
DARRELL McCLURE
DON'T BE A FOOL, SMUDGE-I HATE THE GROUND THAT GRUBBY, LITTLE, ORPHAN BRAT WALKS ON-
BUT WHY TELL ME TO BE NICE TO HER?
BECAUSE YOU'RE A LAME-BRAINED CLOWN-ALL YOUR STUPID ATTEMPTS TO HARM THE BRAZEN CREATURE HAVE FAILED-
THAT WAS JUST HARD LUCK-IF I KEEP ON TRYING, I KNOW-
YOU'RE TOO STUPID TO KNOW ANYTHING! DEBBY IS GETTING SUSPICIOUS- IF SHE TELLS MRS. RANCE ABOUT ALL THE ACCIDENTS, IT WILL RUIN EVERY-THING-
GEE, ZERO-THAT BIG PILE OF DETECTIVES' REPORT BOOKS ALL SAY THE SAME THING-FIRST THE BABY WAS IN THE CRADLE-THEN THE CRADLE WAS EMPTY-I DON'T KNOW WHY THEY NEEDED SO MANY DE-TECTIVES TO FIND OUT THAT-

GO 'LONG WITH YOUR FLATTERY-
AFTER FIFTY YEARS OF TRYING, ANY FOOL COULD LEARN TO DRIVE PEGS INTO A SHOE WITH-OUT FOLKS THINKING HE WAS SOME KIND OF A MAGICIAN--
MOST FOLKS IN THIS TOWN THINK I'M JUST AN OLD FOSSIL WITH-OUT ENOUGH BRAINS TO POUND SAND INTO A RAT HOLE-
G'WAN-YOU'RE JUST FOOLIN' ME-ALL THE KIDS SAY YOU'RE THE SMARTEST MAN IN THE WHOLE COUNTRY-THEY SAID IF YOU FELT LIKE IT, YOU COULD BE A MILLIONAIRE OR EVEN A PRESIDENT--
GO 'LONG WITH YOU-IT'S YOU THAT'S TRYING TO FOOL ME-

You Meet Interesting People.
(And It's the Little Things You Remember)

Loretta Young is the only screen star who vows she doesn't know what "cheesecake" means—and once when a photographer asked her for some, she telephoned room service . . . George Jessel weeps unrestrainedly at sad movies. When he saw "Pride of the Yankees" several weeks ago he cried so hard that he got a headache and had to go right home . . . You'll never catch Joan Blondell powdering her nose at a table, or anywhere else for that matter, because she doesn't use powder . . . Although his staff doesn't report until 9:30 a. m., Leon Henderson arrives at his office daily at 7:30 for what he calls his "golden hours" of mapping out the day's program in blissful solitude . . . Michael Todd, the producer of "Star and Garter," can never be found without an oversized stogie clenched tightly between his teeth—and he wears it as though the cigar were an iron bar and he were suspended in mid-air holding on to it by his molars.

Kilgallen

* * *

Al Jolson gets into the spirit of things at ball parks by wearing a visored baseball cap, and then ruins the whole pictorial effect by keeping his glasses on . . . Milton Berle talks in his sleep and often utters some of his funniest lines while he's snoozing. (How do I know? Joyce told me.)

Joan Fontaine doesn't look like most movie stars. She looks like a beautiful young society matron who pays more for her tweeds than the other type pay for their evening gowns . . . When Irving Berlin is working on a score, Mrs. Berlin makes frequent and frenzied calls to his office reminding his staff to send food into him. Otherwise, he gets so engrossed in his labors that he forgets to eat for days at a time.

* * *

Greer Garson and Gertrude Lawrence are probably the world's two greatest glove fanciers. Greer likes hers in shocking pink or bright green or purple (with her red hair, they're something!) and Gertie's collection includes all kinds all colors, all lengths . . . Billy Rose bought his Mt. Kisco estate so he could get away from Broadway—but he's never spent a week-end there without draping his landscape with a complete cast of characters from Lindy's . . . Maggi McNellis, the thrush, has never held hands with a manicurist. She invariably does her own nails, and does a professionally expert job even with the dark, difficult kind of polish . . . Sonja Henie, who hails from the coldest climes, always has the best suntan in whatever town she's in—even if it's Hollywood.

* * *

Leo Durocher is a paper-shredder—he tears paper into little strips whether he's in the dugout or at Toots Shor's. (That's how those Dodgers affect people.) . . . Ted Straeter, the maestro, has actually declined several lucrative night club jobs because the entrances to these cafes had revolving doors, and he has an absolutely genuine phobia about going round and round in them.

Irene Dunne has better posture than anyone you know. She never reclines, even in an easy chair—just sits straight as anything, all the time . . . Jimmy Dwyer, the Greenwich Village night club owner, emulates Sherman Billingsley on a small scale by presenting ten-cent store falcons of perfume to favored feminine guests at his Sawdust Trail . . . Ella Logan is always going on diets and then going right off them after a few days of lamb chops—but do you know any girl who isn't.

* * *

Leon, of Leon and Eddie's, has an appetite like a small boy at a circus. He's forever sending out his pageboy to bring back five-cent hot dogs and bags of buttered popcorn . . . Her closest friend call Ann Sheridan "Texas" because she never stops singing the praises of the State she hailed from . . . The stocking shortage won't bother Barbara Bannister in the least. Because she dislikes the various doodads that hold them up, she's never worn stockings—and she affects long dinner dresses at night and slacks in the daytime for that specific reason. Benny Fields remembers the name of everybody he's ever met, but he calls everyone "Skip" just the same.

* * *

William Saroyan considers it unlucky to carry an umbrella in the rain . . . Peggy Fears eats at least a quart of ice cream a day—and she pours champagne over it . . . Gary Cooper likes to draw, and likes pictures of horses. (And girls like pictures of Gary Cooper) . . . Dorothy Lamour's entire current wardrobe is composed of last year's gowns done over by Paramount's studio designer, Edith Head. And you wouldn't recognize one of them, honestly.

HOLLYWOOD

—By Robbin Coons

HOLLYWOOD — Hollywood is a wonderful place but once in a while I like to look at it from a distance. I like to get around and talk to people named Mary and Joe and Jack and Sue instead of people named Hedy and Marlene, who spend all their time working for Mary, Joe, Jack and Sue. I like to meet the folks who pay the movie freight. So I'm going East.

That's why today I'm in the midst of a great mob scene - Los Angeles Union Station. It's a bustling wartime sequence with none of that Southern California leisureliness.

* * *

OVER the big crowded waiting room there's a striking lighting effect — late afternoon sun slanting an amber gold effusion downward from high windows throwing the rest of the set into semi-shadow. There's no camera, no microphone, no director — but the atmosphere players are going through their motion just as if DeMille himself were roaring. We'll take a "traveling crane" shoot through and over the mob.

Shoot from any angle and you get the wartime feel of the scene. The mob is predominantly military—soldiers, sailors, marines, in groups and singly, waiting, going, coming. Focusing through a doorway we catch a gob and his gal, hand holding on a bench, and a buck private double-timing it across a lawn to go into a clinch with his own waiting sweetie. We'll turn off the "mike" on these close-ups, on dialogue needed. Boy meets Girl—and over there it's Boy leaves Girl, and looking pretty blue behind the grin.

* * *

REDCAPS hurrying along, loaded . . . Our camera takes in the rows of types filling the room: the harassed mammas with babes in arms; the overalled Mexicano laborer, his patient moustachios drooping around a sandwich; the pretty young mother, suckling her infant with madonna-like unconcern . . . We catch all the tenseness and excitement, magnified in wartime, of a teeming railway terminal — and we pause briefly on a kid in uniform who sits there sobbing, comforted by a negro soldier beside him.

A detachment of bluejackets marches through, and a loud-speaker fills the vast hall with 'Anchors Aweigh.' . . So we follow the script and our camera moves toward the train gates, jostles through, down the ramp to the waiting train, and inside.

And just here there's one of the most wonderful sound effects you ever heard — an off-stage voice cries, "All a-boa-rrd." And the train's pulling out, and we're off to see the U.S.A. again, to see for a while places that are not Hollywood.

Chatter Corner

Dick Hecht, motorcop, enjoying his weekly day off in the rural fields. . . . Harry Schlegel of the city engineer's office seriously telling a visitor of his elephant rides. . . . Helen McIntyre, police department secretary, describing the lack of traffic on the Cleveland highway.

* * *

Harold Matteson getting ready to leave Saturday evening for Burlington Vt., where he will be enroll in flight officers' training school. . . . Mrs. Ruth McCammon leaving her car at the highway patrol office so her son could take his driver's test. . . . Betty Edwards giving nicknames to the babies at the hospital.

* * *

Gil Hiett getting a few skating lessons from his seven-year-old daughter at the Coliseum.

* * *

First Lieut. Harvey C. Lisle, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Lisle, reporting for duty as assistant project officer in the army air forces basic flying school at Walnut Ridge, Ark. He's been in the army air forces since April, 1941 . . . E. C. Flory, former South Boulevards mayor, returning home after an operation in University hospital, Columbus . . . Peggy Anderson, Mansfield freshman at Bethany college, West Virginia, being pledged to the Zeta Tau Alpha sorority.

* * *

Mrs. George Hall and Mrs. George Gernhardt arranging local transportation to the middle-north district conference, Ohio Federation of Music clubs, Tuesday at Loudonville . . . Robert Early practicing solos for the same affair.

* * *

Vera Smythe telling friends how boys in her first grade at Woodland school wouldn't allow the girls to help carry a steel cable salvaged for the scrap drive because it was a "man's job." . . . Mrs. G. W. Hypes looking smart in a blue outfit at the Niles-Mansfield game last night . . .

* * *

Pfc Karl E. Kinstle, of Mansfield, and his wife, the former Mary Teresa Link, of Crestline, are parents of a son born yesterday at Richmond, Va. Kinstle is in the medical division at Camp Lee. . . Lester J. Adams serving with the U. S. Signal Corps at New Orleans, is spending a furlough with his parents, City Electrician and Mrs. Ernest Adams, 638 Bowman street.

AFL LASHES AT ARNOLD ACTION IN MUSIC CASE

Convention Shows Resentment Over Anti-Trust Suit Against Petrillo.

(By International News Service)

TORONTO, Ont—(INS)—With the 62nd annual convention of the American Federation of Labor in adjournment until Monday, strong AFL resentment against Assistant Attorney-General Thurman Arnold for his alleged "persecution" of labor unions was apparent.

This came to the forefront when the convention took up the "canned music" labor dispute between James C. Petrillo's musicians' union and the record makers and broadcasting companies.

Arnold's civil action for an injunction against Petrillo's American Federation of Musicians is sharply resented by AFL officials. Arnold, head of the anti-trust division, department of justice, contends Petrillo's union is engaged in a conspiracy to compel the hiring of unnecessary labor.

Not only has the A. F. of L. officially gone on record as expressing its confidence in Petrillo's union but Joseph A. Padway, counsel of the American Federation of Labor, sharply criticized Arnold for his attitude toward the musicians' union and organized labor.

"In all Mr. Arnold's attacks upon organized labor," said Padway, "he has never launched one so widespread and so definitely and completely destructive of organized labor as is his present attempt to destroy the American Federation of Musicians.

"There are 800 radio stations in the United States," Padway continued. "Over 500 of them do not employ a single living musician. Yet these stations maintain themselves and live off music.

"There are approximately 500,000 coin operated juke boxes in the country with an income of $150,000,000 annually. An average of only 7 minutes of each 24 hours of radio time is given to live music.

"The time will come when persons now inclined to study music and become skilled musicians will find it inadvisable and unprofitable unless they wish to face starvation."

ILLNESS FATAL

Henry Schomer, Succumbs; Funeral Set For Monday.

Henry Schomer, 86, a former employe of the New Method Stove company died early today at his home, 286 Chester avenue, after a brief illness. He had retired 12 years ago.

A native of Port Washington, Wis., Mr. Schomer had lived in Mansfield for 51 years. He is survived by his wife, Katherine; a granddaughter, Mrs. Philip Stehle, jr., of Mansfield, and one great grandson.

The body is at the Geiger funeral home. Services will be conducted by Msgr. R. C. Goebel at 9:30 a. m. Monday at St. Peter's Catholic church. Burial will be in Mansfield Catholic cemetery.

A. H. SHERMAN RITES SUNDAY

LEXINGTON — Funeral services for Arthur Harold Sherman, 41, who died yesterday after a lingering illness at his home here, will be conducted Sunday at 2 p. m. at the Snyder funeral home and burial will be in the Shauck cemetery near Johnsville.

He is survived by his widow; daughters Emma Gene and Phyllis Ann; three sons, Alton, Harold and James, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Sherman of Edison; six sisters, Mrs. Beatrice Watkins, Mt. Gilead, Mrs. Margaret Zola, Texas, Mrs. Carrie Weldon, Mrs. Alta Gallagher and Mrs. Myrtle McHugh and Dorothy Spupak all of Cleveland.

Surviving also are four brothers, Joseph and Henry of Columbus and Lerrill and James of Mt. Gilead; two half-sisters, Betty and Norma, and two half brothers, Herbert and Bruce all from Edison.

PRICE CEILING MEETING SET

Dry Cleaning Firms, Auto, Radio Shops, Others Dealing In Service Called.

Operators of dry cleaning establishments, laundries, auto and radio repair shops and dozens of other places of business that deal in service instead of commodities will come to Mansfield Wednesday night for a seven-county meeting held under the auspices of the Office of Price Administration to explain price ceilings and the necessity of posting prices.

Mansfield Chamber of Commerce assisted the Columbus office of OPA in making arrangements for the meeting scheduled for 8 p. m. in the Senior high school auditorium. Approximately 200 service trades' representatives are expected to attend from Richland, Ashland, Huron, Crawford, Marion, Morrow and Knox counties.

Phil S. Eckert, retail price specialist in charge of service trades for the Columbus office of OPA, will conduct the meeting and show operators how price ceilings apply to their business. He will also point out the importance of filing these ceilings with their local rationing board as well as prominently posting prices in their places of business.

Notices of the meeting addressed to Chamber of Commerce in the seven-county area and asking that service trades be informed were mailed today by the local chamber, John G. Routzon, secretary-manager, said.

Members of the local rationing board and also that at Shelby have been invited to the meeting.

Sixty-one service trades are embraced in the OPA rulings and they cover a wide range of service including garment alteration, laying of carpets and linoleum, cleaning and maintenance of a building, food locker service and deposit box rentals.

Long Distance Calls Put Under Priority Ratings

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Priorities—with three ratings—invade the field of the long distance telephone call Nov. 1 with the number one spot going to communications affecting the war effort and public security.

The board of war communications informed telephone companies yesterday that after this month calls in the first classification have the right-of-way over all others even if necessary to interrupt conversations in progress.

The board assigned number one priority to arrangements for moving armed forces during combat, urgent orders to armed forces, dangers due to the enemy's presence and to calls relating to flood, earthquake, hurricane or other disaster affecting the war effort or public security.

All other types of calls requiring "immediate completion for the national defense and security, successful conduct of the war," or safeguarding of life and property, were given a number two rating. The third priority number goes to calls relating to "important governmental functions," war industries, civilian defense, or public safety and health.

VOTE FOR FREEZE

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Ohio's two Republican senators—Robert A. Taft and Harold H. Burton—voted for an amendment to the revenue bill freezing social security payroll taxes for 1943 at their present level of one per cent on employers and employes. The senate adopted the amendment.

SALVATION ARMY ADJUTANT TO HEAD COMMUNITY FUND COUNCIL

Adjt. Paul Hoffman of the Salvation Army was elected president of the Mansfield Council of Community Fund Agencies yesterday afternoon when the Council re-organized for the second year at a luncheon meeting held in a private dining room at Mansfield General hospital.

Hoffman succeeds Ralph Chapman, Y.M.C.A. executive secretary, who headed the Council during its first year. Others elected to office were Lowell Bourns, vice president; Miss Bertha Gregory, secretary-treasurer, and Miss Veronica Hanley and Mrs. J. W. Ingraham, executive committee members. Jane Williams, secretary of the Mansfield Community Fund, is an ex-officio member of the council.

Election of officers followed the report of the nominating committee presented by Russell Gimbel, chairman.

An outline of the combined Community Fund and War Chest campaign for $140,377 starting Nov. 9, was presented by Mrs. Williams. The Community Fund budget which embraces 11 agencies is set at $65,020.

Mrs. Helen Butterfield, a new agency representative was welcomed into the membership of the Council. Mrs. Butterfield represented St. Vincent DePaul, a Catholic agency, that was admitted to the Community Fund last summer.

THREE INJURED

Galion Man Struck by Car While Walking.

One pedestrian was critically injured on a Mansfield area highway while a Columbus autoist and two passengers escaped with cuts and bruises when their auto rammed a truck at the Park avenue east subway yesterday evening.

William Leonard, 36, Galion, is in Galion hospital with fractures of his upper and lower right leg, a possible fractured skull, severe shock and bruises suffered when struck on U. S. Route 30-S by the auto of John C. Boyd, Galion.

Jack Fetzer, Lodi, and Harvey Camin, Cleveland, suffered minor facial cuts and body bruises when a car driven by David Davis, Columbus, crashed into the truck of Chester Bradney, Laurelville, O., which had halted at a red traffic light in the Park avenue east subway. Davis and his two passengers were treated at General hospital.

William Fish, Utica, escaped injury when he lost control of his truck on Route 13 south of Bellville and plowed into the farmyard of W. C. Walter, highway patrolmen reported.

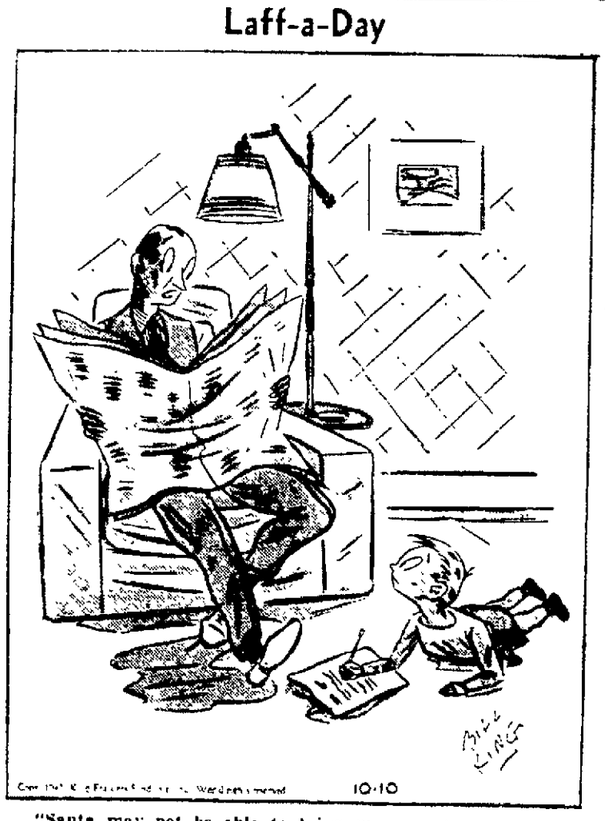
Mansfield's banks will be closed all day Monday and City Hall offices will close at noon in observance of Columbus day. The postoffice and Richland county courthouse offices will pursue their regular hours.

Pupils at St. Peter's parochial grade and high school classes were dismissed yesterday until Tuesday morning to permit observance Monday of the discovery of America by Christopher Columbus. Catholic societies will have ceremonies in keeping with the occasion.

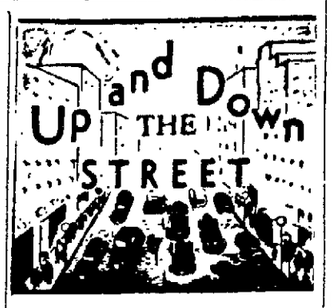
BACON BURNS TO CRISP

YOUNGSTOWN —(AP)—Youngstown housewives, already having trouble getting bacon, were struck a new blow today when between 2,000 and 3,000 pounds of bacon burned in a smoking oven at the Armour and company plant. The fire department report said the oven became overheated.

Laff-a-Day



"Santa may not be able to bring you everything you want this year, son—priorities, you know!"



A callagreen plant that went "all-out" on production is being exhibited in a downtown market today by Reuben Adams, colored resident, residing on the North Main street road. Adams said the plant is the largest he has ever seen and he has been raising the "greens" for a long time, since he began years ago back in his native Alabama. The seed for the plant on exhibition also came from Alabama, Adams said.

A 15-year-old Madison township school boy is spending the rest of the week in the county detention home as the result of a series of circumstances that started when the youth was caught smoking at school. The sentence was imposed by Juvenile Judge Stuart H. Cramer who ordered the boy to report to him for a year. The youth, according to Judge Cramer, was to be called "on the carpet" by school officials for smoking. Deciding he would avoid punishment by running away, he took his brother's car from the parking lot of a Mansfield industry and started for Florida. Near Bellville he wrecked the car, but escaped injury. He admitted he was driving 80 miles an hour.

The fact that chairs and other furniture have not arrived for the new USO Men's Service club is not stopping the management committee from planning a farewell party for the men who are soon to leave Municipal airport after completing their training. The affair will be held next Saturday night in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium and plans will be completed at a committee meeting called by Mrs. V. H. Lodde, chairman, for Monday.

With Betty Bennett as vocalist with the Royce Stoenner orchestra, Captain Paul Whipp and members of his committee are confident of pleasing all who attend the annual Policeman's Ball in the North Lake park coliseum Monday evening. Dancing will be from 9 p. m. to 1 a. m. The advance sale of tickets has been very gratifying, Whipp reports, although the armed forces have taken many potential patrons away from the city. No floor show numbers will be offered this year and the entire evening will be given over to dancing. The dance band, with headquarters in Kansas City, is gaining wide recognition and soon will appear on a national radio hookup.

FUNERAL SET

Rites For A. R. Murphy to Be At Funeral Home Monday.

Funeral services for Albert R. Murphy, former Mansfield service dierector, who died in Canton Thursday will be conducted at the Finefrock funeral home Monday at 3:30 p. m.

Rev. Harry N. Kerst of Canton, will be the officiating pastor and burial will be in Mansfield cemetery. The body will be brought from Canton Monday morning and friends may call at the funeral home after 12 noon.

Former associates of Mr. Murphy at the Mansfield Telephone company where the deceased was commercial superintendent at one time, will act as pallbearers.

IDENTIFY PAIR TRAIN KILLED

Police Find Insurance Card Near Bodies at Wooster.

WOOSTER—(INS)—A man and a woman, killed yesterday by a freight train while walking on the Pennsylvania railroad tracks, were tentatively identified today by police as Philo McAfee and his wife. Since both bodies were mangled an insurance card was the only means of identification.

Railroad officials reported that the coupled alighted from an eastbound train and probably walked the tracks to visit someone in the vicinity. Suitcases found near the scene of the accident contained men's and women's clothing.

JAILED BY FBI

40 to 50 Arrested In West Virginia As Enemy Aliens.

STEUBENVILLE—(INS)—Forty to fifty men and women were in custody today as a result of raids staged by FBI agents and West Virginia state policemen in the important steel manufacturing towns of Weirton and Follansbee, W. Va.

It was understood that all those held in the Brooke and Hancock county, W. Va., jails were enemy aliens, mostly of Italian birth.

WINS HIS BET

English Boy, 16, Flies Plane, Makes Perfect Landing.

BIRMINGHAM, England—(AP)—To collect a 50-cent bet, a 16-year-old boy who said he had never flown before took a plane from an airbase near here, circled the field for 30 minutes and then made what an RAF officer described as a perfect landing.

The escapade was made public when he was brought into court and fined $10.

U. S., BRITAIN ASSURE CHINA OF GOOD FAITH

Choose Independence Anniversary to Surrender Century-Old Special Privileges.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON — Marking a historic development in the English-speaking world relations with the Orient, the United States and Great Britain today were moving to relinquish without delay their century-old extra-territorial rights in China.

In the first concrete step toward the end of western imperialism in China, the American and British governments announced their intentions of negotiating with the Chinese government a treaty providing for the immediate relinquishment of rights which long have been regarded by the Chinese as an infringement on their sovereignty.

These extra-territorial rights, dating back as far as 1844, gave the western powers many privileges in China. American nationals, for example, are subject only to the jurisdiction of American courts in China. When the new treaty is concluded, Americans living in China will be subject to the jurisdiction of Chinese courts.

The Anglo-American action came on the eve of China's celebration of the 31st anniversary of her independence.

It is intended to serve a two-fold purpose. First, as a gesture of friendship towards China, and secondly as evidence of the determination of the United States and Britain to put into effect those principles of the Atlantic charter which guarantee the rights of political freedom to all nations.

Both the United States and Great Britain had previously promised to take steps to relinquish the extra-territorial rights in China when the war was over. The decision to do so now without further delay is intended to insure the Chinese people of the good faith of the English-speaking peoples with respect to those promises.

The action also serves as Anglo-American recognition of China's full sovereignty in the family of nations, and is especially recognition of the ability of the Chinese government to enforce laws based on the modern concept of jurisprudence.

It is intended to offset Axis propaganda in Asia that the western powers are still dominated by imperialism in their attitude toward the Orient.

The move was hailed by Dr. Wei Tao-Ming, the newly appointed Chinese ambassador to the United States, as "sealing the end of an outdated and outworn system."

Women Take Men's Place as Burglars And Do Neat Jobs

NEW YORK —(INS)— In the armed forces the ladies' auxiliaries are called WAACS, WAVES and WAAFS but no alphabetical designation has yet been found for the two blond glamor girls who have been ransacking State Island homes for the past four days.

The latest raid of the attractive, slack-clad burglarettes was staged at the home of Louis Marraccino, Staten Island contractor. The intruders made off with over $1,000 in cash and jewelry.

According to police, the girls broke into the house in true "Jimmy Valentine" fashion, cutting a window screen and jimmying a locked window.

The robbery was the fourth and most daring perpetrated by the girls in as many days.

"Looks kind of bad," sadly lamented the detective assigned to the case. "With all the men going off to war, women seem to be taking their place in everything—even burglary."

INFANT DIES

Baby Son of Mr. and Mrs. Shannon Succumbs Soon After Birth.

Dennis James Shannon, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. James Shannon, 25 East Second street died Friday night at the Mansfield General hospital shortly after birth.

Surviving besides the parents is a sister, Carol Jene at home, also the grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Shannon and Mr. and Mrs. John Fisher of Mansfield. The body was removed to the Wappner funeral home where services were to be held Saturday at 4 p. m. in charge of Rev. Paul Saleste. Burial was to be in the Mansfield cemetery.

Lewis is chairman of the committee in charge of the convention which will have delegates from Episcopal churches in northern Ohio.

'Sin, Disease, Death Real?' Sermon Topic

"Are Sin, Disease, and Death Real?" is the subject of the lesson sermon which will be read in the Church of Christ, Scentist, Sunday.

It will have for the Golden text "Salvation belongeth unto the Lord: thy blessing is upon thy people" (Psalms 3:8).

Included in the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon are the following correlative passages from the Bible and from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy. "Submit yourselves therefore to God. Resist the devil, and he will flee from you. Draw nigh to God, and he will draw nigh to you" (James 4:7-8). "The history of Christianity furnishes sublime proofs of the supporting influence and protecting power bestowed on man by his heavenly Father, omnipotent Mind, who gives man faith and understanding whereby to defend himself, not only from temptation, but from bodily suffering.

World Series Forms Basis of Sermon

The career of Billy Southworth will be the basis for the sermon Sunday at Central Methodist church by Rev. R. L. Foulke and his topic will be "Did the Cardinals Really Win the World Series Championship?"

"Lord Most Holy" by Wheaton will be sung by the choir and offertory duet will be given by Mrs. H. D. Bishop and Mrs. Ewing. Organ offerings will be "Meditation" and Mozart's "Fugue."

Installation services are to be held in the evening for the Epworth league and the Intermediate league.

Gives First In Sermon Series

Sunday morning at the First Christian church, Rev. B. F. Hagelbarger will begin a series of sermons on "The Living Church." The first theme will be "The Living Church—Its Message for the World's Hurt."

The choir, under the direction of Mrs. H. H. Clingan, will sing "Rock of Ages" by Buck and special numbers to be played are "Song of Joy" by Diggle and "A March" by Teilmann.

In the afternoon, a district convention of Richland and eight surrounding counties will be held at the Ashland Christian church from 2:30 to 9:30 p. m. Speakers will be Rev. Gaines M. Cook, Rev. William Starn and Miss Bertha Park of Cleveland, also Miss Wenona Wilkinson of China.

CASE PRESIDENT GIVES TALK AT YOUTH MEETING

War's Conclusion Will Bring End to Domination by White Race, He Declares.

Predicting that "the end of the war will see nations grouped together in larger economic entities as well as the end of the domination of the white race," Dr. William E. Wickenden, president of Case School of Applied Science in Cleveland, told the opening session of the Ohio Christian Youth Council coaching conference that "America will be faced with the choice of writing off much of our wealth or risking it on the welfare of the world."

In sounding the keynote of the three-day conference opening last night in the Park Avenue Baptist church, the Case president addressed 125 young people here from all denominations from throughout the state for training in church leadership. At least 200 were expected to attend the session today and banquet at the church at 6:30 p. m. when Dr. Russell J. Humbert pastor of Epworth Methodist church, Toledo, will be the speaker.

Dr. Wickenden related his discourse to the conference theme, "Blueprints for Tomorrow's World," by referring to the words of the Apostle Paul when he handed the job of carrying forward to young Timothy with the words, "Let No Man Despise Thy Youth."

"Perhaps the outstanding sin my generation must confess," declared Dr. Wickenden, "is its preference for negative solutions." He pointed to some of the unsolved problems of the past generation such as the distribution of wealth, the provision of living space and the multiplied skill of the world in war unbalanced by skill in international affairs.

"After the war," said Dr. Wickenden," the world will be full of such sad realities as wasted wealth, impoverished soil, and savings frozen in armament industry. It will also be shaken with the shock of the transfer from an armament economy to an economy of social welfare. A quarter of a billion people will have to find new means of livelihood."

"There is need for a nucleus of men of good will around which the sadly shattered world can reunite itself," concluded Dr. Wickenden. "That nucleus will be found in men of the Christian faith as personified in Jesus."

Conferences dealing with the social, political, economic and spiritual aspects of the general theme occupied the young people today.

Tonight's program will close the conference until Sunday noon when dinner will be served at St. John's Evangelical and Reformed church and final ceremonies will follow. Conference delegates will attend morning worship services in the city churches.

Holy Communion Service Planned

Morning and evening worship services at First Lutheran church will be given over to holy communion. At the 9:45 a. m. service Rev. Grover E. Swoyer will present the communion meditation on "Renewed in the Spirit." The choir under the direction of A. Lemoine Derr will sing Noble's anthem, "Souls of the Righteous."

Rev. Milton C. Johnson, assistant pastor, will preach at the 7:30 p. m. service. His subject is "The Significance of Holy Communion." This will be his last service at First church as he is leaving next week for his new charge at Beaver Dam, Wis. The choir will sing "Beautiful Savior" by Christiansen for the offertory anthem.

Paul Snyder, Mansfield senior high school athletic coach, will be the speaker at the Brotherhood meeting on Tuesday at 7:30.

Announcements for the week are: Luther League 6:30 p. m. Sunday; The Florence Welty Missionary society 7:30 p. m. Monday at the home of Mrs. James Martin, 244 Elmwood drive; Seventh District 2 p. m. Wednesday; Sunday school board 7:30 p. m. Wednesday; intermediate choir 6:30 p. m. Wednesday and senior choir 7:30 p. m. Wednesday.

Pastor to Speak On 'Winning Spirit'

At the Park Avenue Baptist church Rev. Albert L. Linder will deliver his sermon on "The Winning Spirit." Music is under the direction of Mrs. Edith Fletcher Jameson with Robert Wervey as guest soloist.

For the week's schedule are the following meetings: Sunday, 6:30, youth fellowship; Tuesday, 2 p. m. Samaritan class meeting with Mrs. C. M. Oliver, 557 West Third street; Wednesday, 10 a. m. Woman's Union session, Circle One meets at 1:30 p. m. and Junior choir at 4 p. m.; Thursday, 1:30 p. m. Circle Three meets with Mrs. J. A. Rigby, Balgreen farm, prayer meeting is at 7:30 p. m.; senior choir meets Friday, 7:30 p. m.

'Humanity' Will Be Theme of Sermon

Rev. David N. Roller of the First Presbyterian church will speak on "Investing Our Humanity" at the 10:45 a. m. worship hour.

"The Silent Sea" by Neidlinger will be the choir's anthem and organ selections by Miss Zehner include "Autumn," "Echo Bells," "In the Cathedral" and "Prelude, Fugue and Chaconne."

Weekly meetings scheduled are, Rachel France guild, Monday meeting at 7:30 p. m. with Mrs. H. H. Hoover, Ashland road; Bethany circle, Tuesday in church parlors at 1 p. m. for luncheon in charge of Mrs. C. F. Farry; Women's guild meeting in parlors Thursday, 2 p. m., with Circle Five in charge.

Lutheran Pastors To Meet Monday

Lutheran ministers of the Mansfield district will hold their monthly study and business meeting Monday at 10 a. m. at the St. Luke's Lutheran church.

Rev. O. S. Goerner of Lucas, secretary for the group, will read a paper on the subject, "The Call to the Ministry." Discussion will be led by Rev. H. S. Garnes of St. Luke's church. The devotional study will be presented by Rev. Robert Miller, Tiro. Rev. C. B. Stacy of Mt. Zion, newly elected president, will preside for the business session.

'When God Is Silent,' Minister's Sermon

Sunday's sermon at St. John's church will be "When God Is Silent" as delivered by Rev. Paul H. Saleste. The choir under the direction of Wilbur Hegnauer, will offer several selections.

Dinner meeting of the Ohio Youth conference will be at noon and the Brotherhood will feature its annual chicken supper Monday at 6:30 p. m.

Senior league meets Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. and Ladies Aid society will meet Thursday at 2 p. m. in the church parlors.

Sermon, Musical Numbers Announced

"Keep the Home Fires Burning" is the subject of Rev. Charles F. Sheriff for his Sunday sermon at St. Matthew's Lutheran church.

The choir will sing "One Sweetly Solemn Thought" by Abrose and Marlotte's "Twenty-Third Psalm" sung by Harry Meier.

Alpha class will meet at the home of Mrs. William Schrack Tuesday evening and Bible school will be held Saturday at 9:30 a. m.

SPECIAL MUSIC

Special music has been planned at the First Christian church for Bible school and church services Sunday. Mrs. Rosa Page Welch, well-known singer who is here to direct music for the Ohio Youth convention, will present several selections at the Christian church, Rev. B. F. Hagelbarger announced.

High Students Gets Scrappy, Collect Junk on Saturday

32,000 pounds of scrap. Students from Aquinas high school in Cleveland found 32 tons of scrap to add to the collection. Trucks are being volunteered for the scrap drive, as Columbus students make their house-to-house campaign.

Thirty boys in Sulphur Springs near Bucyrus have collected 30 tons of scrap since Tuesday. Preceding the drive, mimeographed letters were sent to all homes in the community by high school officials. And no trucks were furnished the boys—they provided their own conveyances.

On the grade school "front" Hedges pupils, who have already collected more than two tons of material, are continuing an enthusiastic drive. They have hung an effigy of Hitler beside their scrap pile. In addition, mimeographed letters describing what material is needed in the drive and what war equipment it will make, have been handed children, teachers and parents.

The Madison theater was crowded this morning with boys and girls who gathered enough scrap to fill one big truck and part of a second in the special matinee drive staged by the city's five motion picture theaters.

Close to 1,000 children saw the film bill after piling up a young mountain of scrap in Central park and dumping other contributions on a truck stationed in front of the theater.

Boy Scouts were on hand to handle contributions that contained everything from tin pans and water spigots to iron stove gratings and other more cumbersome pieces. A few of the children with no metal to bring brought other salvage items such as old albums filled with recordings.

The scrap was delivered to the J. M. Cousins junk yard but had not been weighed at noon today.

Grattan Johnston, city manager for Warner Brothers' three Mansfield theaters, was chairman of the matinee project and theaters participating included the Ohio, Madison, Majestic, Ritz and Park. Proceeds from the scrap will be turned over to the War Chest.

Nazis In Norway Even Frighten Quisling

LONDON —(U.P.)— Patriotic resistance is spreading throughout Norway and Vidkun Quisling, arch Norwegian traitor, has appealed to Adolf Hitler to modify the ruthless gestapo terror campaign which is only intensifying opposition, Stockholm reports said today.

Authorities threatened to extend the state of siege to Hamar, 60 miles north of Oslo, when inhabitants demonstrated before German-occupied buildings and tore down German posters in protest against executions, dispatches said.

Many persons were reported arrested at Gran, 40 miles north of the capital, when a store of arms was found, it was reported, and incidents were occurring in towns along the Swedish frontier.

A big reward was offered for men who sabotaged an iron mine at Steinkjer, 60 miles north of Trondheim, it was said.

Stockholm reported that Josef Terboven, German overlord of Norway, and Hermann Redeiss, gestapo chief, had returned to Oslo from Trondheim, possibly to extend the state of emergency.

If the German drive in this area develops into a major offensive, it would indicate that German strategy is to isolate Stalingrad through control of the Volga. This would make it unnecessary to follow through with the costly siege of Stalingrad.

There was no apparent letup in the fury of the German attacks, despite the recent Berlin announcement that costly assaults on Stalingrad would be discontinued in favor of artillery and air bombardments.

Tanks and massed infantry were thrown against the Russian lines in two futile assaults whose only result was to pile up the staggering toll of Nazi casual

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, SATURDAY, OCTOBER 10, 1942.

We will win this war, and in the victory we shall search, not for vengeance, but for the establishment of an international order, in which the spirit of Christ shall be a norm for the hearts of men and nations.—Bishop Miguel de Andrea.

United Support Awaits Chest Drive

WITH so many things to be done, it is quite in keeping with the times to find that plans for the Mansfield and Richland county War Chest campaign call for such swift action as to carry the whole thing through in three days.

As outlined by "Major General" Fred B. Hout, the Commando technique is to be used in the campaign, with speed, precision and intensity marking every move, after careful preparations have been made to assure a victorious outcome.

Subscriptions equal to an hour's pay a month have been made the basis for calculation in reaching the required total of $140,377 in the county, and the universal accord being expressed inspires confidence that response throughout city and county will be prompt and enthusiastic.

It was said a few days ago by President Roosevelt, in opening the 1942 Mobilization for Human Needs: "Your giving will provide not only strength for our nation at war, but proof, in a world of violence and greed, that the American people keep faith with democracy, that we hold inviolate our belief in the infinite worth of the individual human being."

Needs, which the community funds and the war chests of the cities of America seek to meet this year, were never greater, never more important.

This year, besides caring for our own, we must, as the president pointed out, "stretch a handclasp of hope and courage across the seas."

Sentiment Succumbs To Needs

SENTIMENT, and sometimes a feeling of sadness mixes with patriotic duty in current contributions to the nation's big scrap metal collection. An impressive case is reported from Cleveland, where an old dynamo was turned in by the Illuminating company for scrapping.

It was almost a sacred relic. It was one of the first practical outfits made for electric illumination, produced by Dr Charles F. Brush, inventor of such lighting, and used in the city of its origin in 1893. John T. Kermode, now assistant general manager of the Cleveland Electric Illuminating company, is the man who operated it then.

That dynamo, which might be called the father of electric lighting, weighed 1,200 pounds. It served as the power plant for 300 40-watt lamps, mostly on commercial circuits for down-town store windows. Some old-timers recall the light bulbs of that period or a little later, and the dim, flickering illumination they gave.

Cutting up and melting down that little old dynamo seems to end an era.

'Farmer's Diary' Highly Commended

WITH such a flood of syndicated features as pours steadily to the desk of a newspaper editor, there's an element of surprise in finding some one of them springing from a small local beginning into national recognition of excellence.

But that's what's happened in the case of "A Farmer's Diary," written and syndicated by Calvin A. Byers, teacher in the Mansfield high school and farmer in the Bellville sector.

After its start in the News-Journal almost five years ago, with immediate favorable reader response, this feature was sold to a number of other newspapers in Ohio and adjoining states, but it was not until now that it was brought to nation-wide attention by favorable comment in the current issue of Editor & Publisher, a widely distributed trade publication.

An extended article includes excerpts from typical "diary" columns and says that Mr. Byers is "one of the few writers who puts out a real down-to-earth farm column and he's a dyed-in-the-wool son of the soil. . . . Byers reduces the daily life of a plain man into readable prose. . . . Strangely, most of his correspondence comes from city folk, not farmers, and many of them tell him that his writings bring back familiar childhood scenes. . . . His columns are often used as sermon texts and as reference."

The News-Journal is glad that "A Farmer's Diary" is gaining more widespread recognition and confidently believes that the high percentage of reader interest shown here will be duplicated wherever this feature is printed.

More Women Called as Jurors

TIME WAS when a woman on a jury was something to make bystanders stare. Even now there are some states which have made no provision for them to serve. But in states which do admit them, they are swarming in and the men are disappearing.

One large city now reports that the average jury contains nine women and three men. The sexes are drawn in equal numbers out of the jury wheel, but most of the men, being engaged in one form or another of war work, are excused.

The trend is likely to continue. The most that the jury commission expects is that there will always be a "sprinkling" of retired men on jury panels. But not more than that.

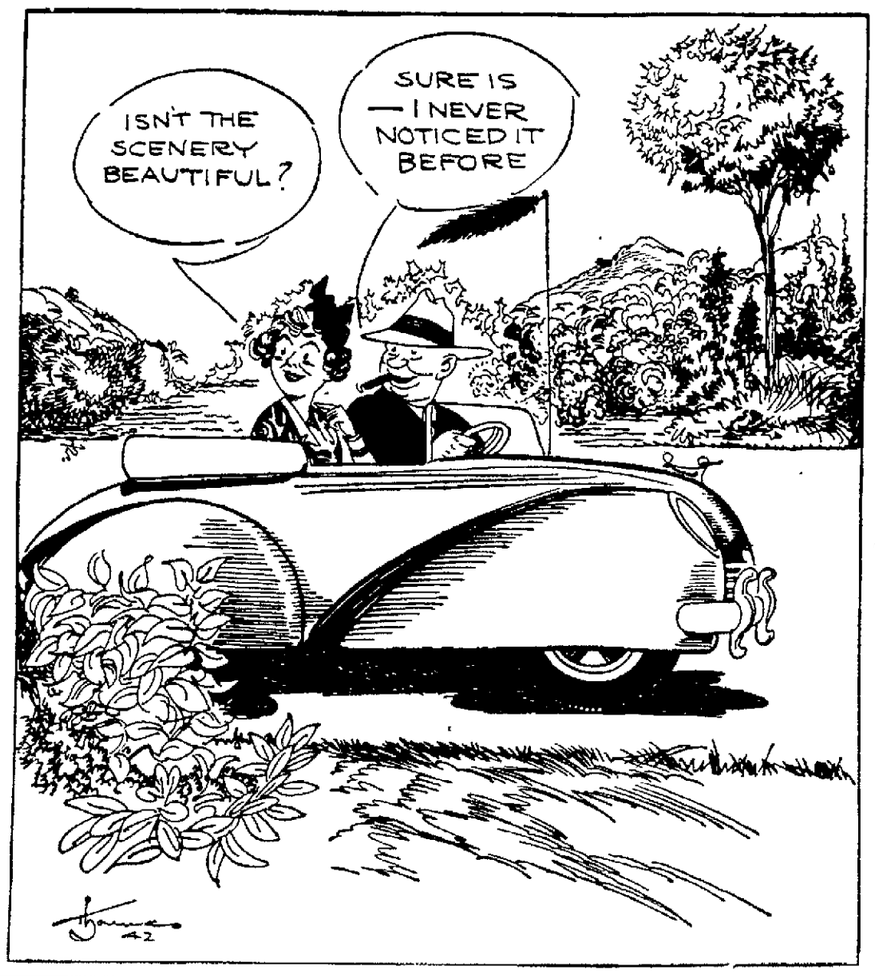
Judges who have to deal with them praise the conscientiousness of the women jurors and this praise seems well deserved.

Word is anxiously, but confidently, awaited, that fewer automobiles and reduced speed, has substantially lessened traffic accidents.

According to Robert Quillen: "The final test of poise is to introduce four people and not seem as ridiculous as you feel."

"Fall in love slowly," advises a dean of men—but since when has it been possible to fall slowly.

THIRTY-FIVE MILES AN HOUR



Buying Boom to Follow War

—By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON — Forecasting a big buying boom at the war's end didn't really require the intensive investigation with which the United States Chamber of Commerce preceded its recent prophecy that one will speedily follow the world conflict's termination.

E. A. Johnston.

It stands to reason that peace's restoration will find the demand for all sorts of life's ordinary requirements piled up enormously.

There'll be populations elsewhere in the world which probably won't be able to supply themselves with what they need, no matter how urgent their necessities. This country, however, in all likelihood, will have plenty of money in its pockets for quite awhile after an international treaty's conclusion.

The U. S. Chamber's management doubtlessly was perfectly aware of all this and did its investigating less with a view to verifying its judgment than to ascertaining just what classifications of goods there'll be the most immediate call for.

The quiz indicated that no particular shortage will exist in the line of edibles. Consumers perhaps will have been on rather short rations or will have been wholly deprived of foods of their various especial fancies. They won't have gone actually hungry for anything essential, though.

Clothing First.

The Chamber's figures suggest that the first rush will be in the direction of clothing stores and shoe shops, inasmuch as wearing apparel and foot gear are apt to be pretty well worn out if the strife lasts much longer.

Then there'll be an outcry for furniture, assorted household equipment and repairs and the improvement of premises.

Production plants will be about six months in getting back upon a peacetime basis sufficiently to fill their customers' orders, from all accounts. After that it's predicted that they'll start to expand, to enable 'em to cope with a permanently increased volume of business.

President E. A. Johnston of the United States Chamber gives it as his judgment that the expected burst of post-war activity will speedily provide jobs for our discharged soldiery and workers now engaged in arms and munitions manufacture and the creation of miscellaneous military equipment.

In short, it's a normal post-war program—just like what followed the last war, and continued until the crash occurred, subsequently developing into the prolonged depression.

The crash and depression are what outfits like the United States Chamber, the National Association of Manufacturers and government economists are trying to prevent, in advance, this time.

The fact that crashes and depressions, after temporary booms, have afflicted the belligerents in all past wars, including the 1914-18 affair, doesn't prove anything as to the present, for prevention never was attempted before. Economists, in those days, hadn't had experience enough to forecast the future. In the current instance they're doing it, remembering 1914-18 and its sequel.

The trouble with today's would-be preventatives is that they never have been tested, either.

Will they prove effective?

Hopes High, But—

The economists themselves don't know yet. They're hopeful, but they're not betting any of their own good money. They PROMISE copiously, but, at best, they're simply guessing and, now and then, you meet one who's candid enough to admit it.

It'll be interesting to live for a few years after this war ends, and see what's happened That'll be long enough to have lived—and desirable to expire directly the crash has recorded itself, without waiting for the ensuing depression. If the crash hasn't crashed, though, there will be no objection to waiting a few more years, for further observation.

Listen World!

The Land We Love

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

KEEPING UP American morale among the boys abroad as well as the folks at home . . . keeping up the faith in and love for the land we're all defending, that's our big job these days.

And we're tackling this job in many ways. Hollywood troupers doing their splendid best with unbounded generosity. Radio stars, actors and orators, local and national talent, all making their impassioned pleas. Pleas for courage and loyalty and fighting fury.

Great stuff, such verbal dynamite. And yet there's another way of building morale which seems to me to go even deeper. Not song and dance-acts, not oratory on broadcasts. But the books which make us remember the earth from which we were born, the homely customs, the land which we must save.

Sometimes I think these give us more heart to fight than all the patriotic songs that ever were written. Give a boy a chance to remember the trails he knew as a kid, the trees and vegetable patches, the herds of cattle and the old swimming pool, and you won't need to tell him to fight against German or Japanese invasion. He'll do it anyway, out of the home fires within him.

I'm thinking of two new books as I write this—simple books, both of them, but with a passionate sincerity that's good for what ails us these days. A sincerity that will heal our bewildered hearts even while it toughens our jaw to save this, the land which we and our fathers have redeemed from the wilderness.

One is "Golden Fleece" by Mrs. Hughie Call (Houghton Mifflin, Publishers). Here's the story of a girl who went from sunny Texas, with its roses, magnolias and lazy drawl, up into a Montana sheep-rancher's life—to the rocks of Montana with its circling peaks, its hard-bitten drudgery. Here is really that overworked term, "an American document," the actual sound and dust, the drudgery and sweat of crowded days.

The story of sheep-herders who died at their posts rather than desert their flocks. The story of flocks whose needs took precedence over all human demands . . . women who delivered their own babies in loneliness and terror because their men must serve at the lambing . . . wives whose nearest neighbors were and are five and ten miles away, to be reached only by a single wire which often broke in the winter during hours of direst need.

If you've ever known or wanted to know the Far West and what it has to offer in human effort, you'll find it in this book. And though you were born and bred in the Bronx you'll scent the grimness and the glory of that valiant effort.

Bring on your drums and wave your flags, their thrill will fade before the story of this typical sheep-rancher's wife. And many a boy serving in Libya and England, Australia and China will feel the call of his land again and hurl himself into the battle with renewed fury and devotion. For there's no more potent propaganda than the cry of your own earth in her hour of peril. And Hughie Call has learned in 20 years of actual living how to make that call circle the world.

THERE'S another book which is as big medicine for the fighting American today. "Big Doc's Girl" by Mary Medearis (J. B. Lippencott, Publishers) is as sensitive yet as vigorous a volume as I've read in many a day. The story of Arkansas as seen through the eyes of Big Doc's daughter—Big Doc who put fame and fortune aside in order to serve the hillbillies of the mountain trail. Here's America too, deeply moving, splendidly challenging, and there'll be many a boy in the Solomon Islands who'll read it with tears in his throat and a great surge of pride in his blood.

Newspaper columnists and radio broadcasters, with their ruthless honesty are necessary these days. They tell us what may happen to this country. But here in these two books is the noble and inspiring record of what has happened, of the land we have made and must preserve. Read them these fall evenings. Read them and rejoice.

Timely Editorial

Those Who Suffer.

A letter from a worried, unhappy wife to the editor of a Chicago newspaper will strike home to many a sympathetic heart. She writes: "I ask your help in a matter that should demand the cooperation of your courageous newspaper. My husband earns $60 a week—and gambles $50 of it at a notorious spot promoted by hoodlums. You can see scores of cars there any evening until morning." And so on, as she describes this headquarters for suckers.

Chicago, Toledo and other large industrial cities are pretty much alike in their proportion of stupid suckers who give up a large part of their weekly pay envelopes to the gamblers.

Whatever one may think of professional gamblers they are not stupid suckers. They are smart, being among the few people on the earth who have learned the trick of living well without working.—Grove Patterson in the Toledo Blade.

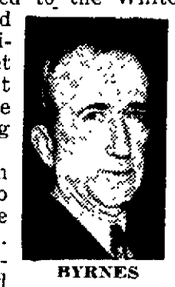
Summary of Week's Happenings

Fast Action to Control Inflation Follows Appointment of Byrnes

—By ASSOCIATED PRESS

SPEED marked anti-inflation action following congressional agreement on a bill that was promptly signed by President Roosevelt, who moved immediately to implement his inflation-control administration.

In the calm Supreme Court building, Justice James F. Byrnes hung up his judicial robes, dashed to the White House to roll up his ex-judicial sleeves and get to work as director of economic stabilization. Leon Henderson whipped out a set of new regulations, increasing government price control from 60 to 90 per cent of the average family's food budget; extending rent ceilings to the entire nation.



BYRNES

Things moved along at a great clip in the capital but when the little man who pays the tax bill dumped his pay envelope out on the kitchen table, his wife sighed. She read that the overall food costs including price fixed and previously free food items had risen only 5 per cent since May price fixing, but she knew also that she was paying well over 60 cents a dozen in some stores in the East for eggs she was getting last spring for about 45 cents, a bit more than a 5 per cent rise.

She knew that foods frozen at September prices would take a bigger share of the payroll dollar than if they had been frozen at last spring's level. She knew that under the president's wage and salary fixing, wages might be adjusted to meet rising living costs, fixed salaries probably would not.

She wasn't worried about the directive authorizing Economic Director Byrnes, former New Deal senator from South Carolina, to freeze salaries at $7,500 ceilings, limit incomes to $25,000 after paying taxes and insurance and fixed obligations.

She figured it would take weeks before the anti-inflation excitement in Washington settled down, maybe longer before it would show results in her daily battle to keep food, rent, clothing bills inside the limits of the family pay envelope. She hoped it would work—and quickly.

Doughnuts, No Coffee.

Americans accepted sugar rationing calmly, they laid up their automobiles or halved their driving mileage when gasoline became scarce and tires were frozen. Last week however, they were really worried. It was the coffee situation.

From coast to coast, the shortage promised months ago by the government was making its appearance. In thousands of big and little stores, coffee shelves were bare and dealers were unable to say when there might be supplies.

Washington authorities said the shortage was due to heavy requirements for the armed forces and the decrease in shipments from Brazil.

Millions of householders who hoped the snatch-and-grab system would be replaced by formal rationing found little encouragement in an OPA official's statement that no such plan was ready for rationing "in the immediate future."

That was the end of the endorsement; further Franklin Roosevelt said only that he hoped every voter would exercise the right of ballot.

* * *

Censorship, Pro and Con.

Domestic relations were somewhat strained in Washington after President Roosevelt's tour of the nation at war. The president swung first, chiding Washington for being at least a step behind the militant, win-the-war spirit he found on his secret trip.

The Washington correspondents swung next, chiding the president for the secrecy, expressed fear of "creeping censorship." Millions of war workers and other citizens knew of the 8,000-mile journey their newspapers were not permitted to reveal until FDR was back at his desk.

The nation's editors were divided, many siding with the Washington correspondents who protested to the White House, and Censorship and War Information offices, while others agreed with the president's insistence that the trip be secret.

After Sixteen Years.

When, with characteristic skill, the glittering New York Yankees went into the ninth inning leading 7 to 0, baseball's wise men nodded knowingly. It looked like it would be the same old story for this year's world series—Yankees in four straight.

But the jittery, youthful St. Louis Cardinals exploded with four runs in their half, had the tying run on first base when the game ended. Still, the wise men were undisturbed; it wouldn't happen again to New York's veteran, series-hardened team.

It did, though, and in the year's most astounding sports upset, the four games—4-3, 2-0, 9-6 and 4-2, to become the first National league club to beat the Yanks in the world series since 1926. For the victory, each Cardinal collected $6,192.50; losing Yanks each received $3,351.76, while the United Service Organizations took $362,926.65.

* * *

Journey's End.

It was the power and prestige of John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers that helped create the Congress of Industrial Organizations a half-dozen years ago, helped weld it into a mighty labor voice, a potent adversary of the long-established American Federation of Labor.

Last week, the UMW and the CIO called it quits. At the UMW convention in Cincinnati, miners' president Lewis charged CIO leaders with attempting to destroy his union, overwhelmed scattered opposition, led his half-million unionists out of CIO ranks.

* * *

Signs of the Times.

For the first time in years, "One-Eye" Connolly, 73-year-old gate-crasher, failed to appear at the world series. He couldn't spare the time from his war job in a Detroit factory.

In Mohawk, N. Y., 28-year-old Earl Brown was shot to death in a family argument started, police said, when Brown accused relatives of having him reclassified in the draft, from 3A to 1A.

With national meat rationing around the corner, the Cedar Rapids, Ia., zoo planned to dispose of its bears, foxes, a wolf, a coyote and alligators. They've been eating 25 pounds of hamburger a week.

At Home

Close Harmony.

Even to such a highly successful veteran of politics as Franklin D. Roosevelt, the old advice "If you can't lick 'em, join 'em" is sound.

In the New York state convention weeks ago, Franklin D. Roosevelt was out-maneuvered by another veteran, James M. Farley, and the Democratic gubernatorial nomination went to Attorney General John J. Bennett instead of to the president's choice, Senator James M. Mead.

Last week, conscious of the help that Republican candidate Thomas E. Dewey would receive from a disunited Democratic party, the president joined the winners, announced he would vote for Bennett "because I believe that he is the best qualified."

Looking Back

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Tuesday, Oct. 10, 1922.

Stockholders of Hadfield-Penfield company met to consider refinancing plans.

Henry Beck recalled that it was fifty-third anniversary of his start in the barber business.

Miss Sue Harvard gave concert at First Congregational church as first number in Music club series.

Wireless telephone service, "for the first time in history," was inaugurated on the Pennsylvania railroad's "Broadway Limited."

"Buck" Miller, Homer Dent, George Flockenzier and Thomas Withers went to Chicago to get cabs for their new taxi line.

Cookton school in Springfield was closed because of cases of scarlet fever in vicinity.

Miss Elsie Laubscher took position at Jelliff jewelry store.

TODAY IN HISTORY

At Annapolis, Md. on Oct. 10, 1845, was founded the Naval School by the Hon George Bancroft, historian, educator and Secretary of the Navy, to improve the then unsatisfactory methods of instructing midshipmen. The school was reorganized in 1850-51 as the U. S. Naval Academy with a prescribed course of study of four consecutive years. During the Civil war the academy was moved to Newport, R. I., but was brought back to Annapolis in 1865.

Daily Bible Thought

And the glory of the Lord shall be revealed, and all flesh shall see it together: for the mouth of the Lord hath spoken it.—Isaiah 40:5.

Quotes

Mrs. Oveta Hobby, director Women's Army Auxiliary Corps: For the first time in the history of our country women are mobilizing for active participation in a war. Women have learned that total war means total effort. There are many avenues of service, but none is more important than the job women will do in the home army of which everyone of us is a member. And part of that job is scrap and salvage. . . . The fighting front is dependent on the home front. Salvage and scrap are essential elements of war munitions. The things you save in the home can win this war. The things you waste can lose it.

Abroad

Trouble In Trondheim.

The Gestapo spent a busy week from Trondheim down through Copenhagen and it began to look like a busy winter for Hitler's secret police throughout northern Europe.

Something was brewing behind the censorship of the occupation armies. Twenty-five persons were executed in the first two days of an old-fashioned Nazi reign of terror in Norway's Trondheim. Seven hundred others were arrested on various charges as the Gestapo tried to halt a wave of sabotage that kept Vidkun Quisling on the run.

Sabotage was reportedly delaying a new Nazi marine base at Trondheim with a slowdown by 25,000 dilatory Norwegians. An explosion of a power plant shut down the job.

* * *

Heil Hermann.

Swaggering, ebullient Hermann Wilhelm Goering, overlord of all Germany's air forces, last week took up the matter of the winter's food supply and made a promise—which the Reich's faithful may well hope stands up better than his assurance that enemy bombs would never drop on German cities.

Speaking at the annual Harvest Festival, Herr Goering expressed the hope there would be food for the people who have come under Germany's thumb. But, he added, "if there is hunger it will be, in no event, in Germany. From now on . . . German workmen and those working in Germany (must) be supplied with food the best of all."

Thus offering the sugar-coating, Goering came up with the pill: Germans must endure Allied air raids until the Russian campaign ends; they must conserve metals and fuel.

Miracle Man?

The German war machine was crunching ahead on all sectors of the Russian battle line a year ago when Moscow announced that Marshal Semeon Timoshenko had been transferred from the Moscow area to the southern zone.

A month later, the German drive apparently unchecked, Nazis moved into Rostov. Then, inexplicably, Timoshenko's counter attack began to click, the great German retreat began, and Hitler's time-table fell apart as his troops fell back, died by the thousands in the bitter cold.

Last week, it looked as if Timoshenko might deliver another military miracle. Stalingrad, a "dead city" almost a month ago, still blocked the German thrust to the Caspian, and Timoshenko's unyielding army attacked strongly in the northwest sector—the spot at which the Germans had driven their wedge into the city.

In Short

Landed: At a Pacific northwest port, five Japanese prisoners, first to be brought to continental United States.

Killed: Eleven U. S. army men and representatives of government agencies in a plane crash at Botwood, Newfoundland; seven crewmen in an army bomber crash at Akron.

Decorated: Vern Haughland, AP war correspondent saved after 42 days in the New Guinea jungles, with the Silver Star medal by Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

Awarded: To Lt. Gen. Henry H. Arnold, U. S. air force commander, the Distinguished Service Medal for a new flight record from Brisbane, Australia, to California. Elapsed time, 77 hours; flying time, 33 hours, 53 minutes.

Died: William (Pinky) Hargrave, former big-league catcher (Washington, Detroit, Boston Red Sox and Braves) of a heart attack in Fort Wayne, Ind.

MANSFIELD BUSINESS IN REVIEW

Arrange Christmas Sittings Now, Warning of Buell-Kraft Studio

Shortages of Supplies and Labor Peril Poses, Cameraman Says.

Persons desiring photographs for Christmas giving are urged to arrange their sittings before Oct. 31 by Clarence Buell, proprietor of Buell-Kraft Studio, 48 West Third street.

No guarantee of delivery can be made on appointments entered into after this month, according to this veteran photographer who warns of the increasing shortage in photographic supplies:

"Naturally, and rightly so, the War and Navy departments have first call on all production of such supplies," Buell says. "I thought a few months ago these current shortages were in sight and began then to caution the public to make immediate arrangement for their photographic needs and desires."

Another problem which hampers his studio business is the labor shortage, Buell says. Several months ago a valuable employe left his service for the armed forces and next week another skilled worker leaves for the Army.

"With quality as the theme of my entire business it is difficult to enlist qualified workers for this particular home front," Buell declared. At present Mrs. Naomi Karchner, his daughter, is swamped with oil portrait orders.

With relatives at home wishing to send their photos to loved ones in the armed forces the studio capacity is taxed constantly, Buell says. There is a current demand for compact folders which the serviceman can carry in a shirt or blouse pocket. Thinness is a requisite as well as substantial quality to withstand the rigorous wear.

Some months ago the Buell-Kraft shelves were packed with cameras and a complete assortment of photographic supplies. Today a famine is threatened in all lines and the demand for even the cheapest of cameras is active.

Considerable range of offerings in the movie camera types is available, together with films for such apparatus direct from the war fronts of the world. Through this medium home movie lovers are afforded opportunity for a graphic picture in all various detail of actual battle actions.

In the accompanying photograph Clarence Buell of Buell-Kraft studio, is exhibiting various photographic wares to a patron. Carrying a representative stock, the Buell-Kraft display rooms are a genuine treat to all picture lovers.

Buell entered the studio photography field six years ago after more than 16 years in the commercial and industrial lines. He retains contact with these latter phases and frequently is called on to picturize intricate industrial machinery or exquisite commercial displays.

GALION WOMEN AID RED CROSS

GALION — Approximately 180 women volunteers have been at work for the past several weeks preparing Red Cross surgical dressings, according to a report made by Mrs. Frank Horn, general chairman. Mrs. Horn said that if the quota set up by the Red Cross is to be maintained more workers must volunteer for service.

From Monday through Friday each afternoon, workers are meeting at the city building. Also on Monday and Thursday evening work is carried on.

The names of the supervisors for the different days are as follows: Monday, Mrs. R. Malone; Tuesday, Mrs. Harold Seemann; Wednesday, Mrs. Frank Horn; Thursday, Mrs. George Hayden, and Friday, Mrs. Albert Ritzhaupt. Mrs. H. H. Rouzer is in charge on Monday evening, and Mrs. Harold Seeman, on Thursday evening.

CYCLIST HURT

BUCYRUS — Robert Gale McFarland, 19, is in City hospital receiving treatment for abrasions of the face and leg received when the motorcycle on which he was riding collided with an automobile driven by L. T. Parkhurst, Woodlawn avenue resident, at Whetstone and Woodlawn streets Friday morning.

BALLOTS DELIVERED

BUCYRUS—The Crestline Printing company made delivery Friday of ballots for the Nov. 3 election. The Crestline firm was given the contract for printing the ballots on their bid of $5.25 per thousand.

MARKS CENTENNIAL

MILLERSBURG—Special services will be held Sunday at the Glenmont St. John's Evangelical and Reformed church in commemoration of the church's centennial.

Weather Cement Before Painting, Or Wash Surface

Surface preparation on all types of materials plays an important part in producing a finished job of satisfactory durability. As alkalis are most destructive to an oil paint film, all cement construction material should be allowed to weather for several months before painting. This will allow for neutralization of the alkali by the carbon dioxide in the air. If it is not convenient to wait for this weathering period, the affected areas may be washed with a solution of two pounds of zinc sulfate in a gallon of water. After allowing this to dry thoroughly, the paint may be applied without the danger of the alkali burning through the film and ruining the decorative finish.

CLASSES FORMED

GREENWICH — Two classes have been formed for making Red Cross surgical dressings, one meeting Thursday afternoons and the other Thursday evenings in the room over the Black's store.

Supervisors are Mrs. Gladys Templer, Mrs. Thelma Curtis, Mrs. Carrie Seidel and Mrs. Edith Hawkins.

PASSES BAR

WILLARD—Hugh E. Kirkwood, jr., of Willard, was one of seven successful applicants for the June state bar examinations announced yesterday by the Ohio supreme court.

Those on the list had taken the examination last spring, but announcement of grades was withheld until they had completed their university law training.

OLD RECORDS BEING SOUGHT AS WAR MOVE

Smart's Music Store Receiving Center For Discarded Discs; Will Call.

Music lovers can directly enlist in the war effort by contributing old phonograph records, according to Eugene Smart of Smart's Music Shop and Studios, 5 Park avenue west, and his record and piano store, 6 South Main street.

Smart will buy all types and makes of old records, excepting the thick Edison types. Owners may turn in their contributions at the record-piano department or telephone the store and they will be called for at the home.

"We must turn in old records in order to obtain new ones," Smart explains. "Definitely there is no shortage of the new discs but there is a shortage of shellac and other materials required in record manufacture. Consequently the government is calling in all old material, which can be salvaged for use in producing new discs."

Various government agencies recognize the need of a steady distribution of new discs, Smart says, both to the civilian population as well as to the armed forces as a means of maintaining a high morale.

In aiding record buyers Smart's store has the service of a battery of skilled music critics who know their Bach and their "boogie-woogie" and who put all new products through real tests. At Smart's one can browse at will for this "real music store" is constantly eager to insure your lasting enjoyment of good music.

PATRICIA PALMER WEDS LT. JAMES M'CONNELL

Bride, Her Mother and Bridegroom's Mother Go to Randolph Field, Tex., for Ceremony In Post Chapel on Oct. 3.

ANNOUNCEMENTS are being received today of the marriage of Miss Patricia Palmer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jay Rhodes Palmer, 793 Park avenue west, and Lieut. James Roger McConnell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul McConnell, 472 Edgewood road. The popular Mansfield couple exchanged vows at 11 a. m. on Oct. 3 in the Randolph Field post chapel, near San Antonio, Tex. Rev. Goodfell, chaplain, officiated. Preceding and during the ceremony, nuptial music was played by the chapel organist.

The altar was attractively decorated with white asters and chrysanthemums. Attendants were Lieut. and Mrs. Richard Kaywood of Randolph Field.

For her wedding, the former Miss Palmer wore a lovely white satin gown fashioned with a long, full skirt and sweetheart neckline. She had a skull cap of white violets and her only jewelry was a necklace of pearls, gift of the bridegroom. The bridal bouquet was colonial style of gardenias and stephanotis. Mrs. Kaywood's floor length gown was chartreuse and she carried a colonial bouquet of dark red roses.

A black dress with sequin trim was worn by Mrs. Palmer with white accessories and a corsage of gardenias. Mrs. McConnell's dress was purple, her accessories were in a fuchsia shade and she had an orchid corsage. The bridegroom and best man wore white uniforms.

On Friday night, Oct. 2, Lieut McConnell entertained a group of air corps fliers and their wives at a dinner in the Anachacho room at the St. Anthony hotel in San Antonio. After the ceremony Saturday morning, he and his bride flew to Houston, Tex. For the trip, Mrs. McConnell wore a tan gabardine suit with brown accessories. Her shoulder corsage was of gardenias. The newlyweds are making their home in New Braunsels, near Randolph Field.

Both Lieut and Mrs McConnell are graduates of Mansfield Senior high school. The bride was a secretary in the office of the Ohio Brass company prior to her marriage. She is a member of Zeta Rho chapter of Delta Theta Tau sorority. The bridegroom, a first lieutenant, received his army air corps wings at Kelly Field, Tex., last February and is now an instructor at Randolph Field.

Colony Club Plans To Have Dinner Dance Oct. 30

Forty were present for the luncheon given at the Mansfield-Leland hotel Thursday for members and guests of the Colony club. Hostesses were Mrs. J. N. Stonebreaker, Mrs. G. W. Walker and Mrs. H. W. Westervelt. Mrs. R S. Tennant, Mrs. J. E. Floyd, Mrs. M. C. Allen and Mrs. W. E. Milander were the newcomers.

For the program, Mrs. Arthur Owen told the history of her collection of buttons and displayed the various kinds in her possession. Mrs. H. Wayne Hoffman, Red Cross chairman, announced that members will make surgical dressings at the Red Cross rooms from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m. on Oct. 14. "Gloves and Their Making" was the subject of a talk by Mrs. Vernon Lawrence. Mrs. Robert Hiller, nurses' aid, described the nurses' aid course and told of their importance in the war effort.

On Oct. 22, the club will have a dessert-bridge at the hotel. A dinner-dance will be given at Westbrook Country club on Oct. 30.

Party Honors A. C. Bechtel

Honoring A. C. Bechtel, who has resigned as custodian at Carpenter school, 20 teachers and supervisors had a party Thursday evening at the Dean Rex home, 392 Shepard road. Mr. Bechtel has resigned to go into the insurance business. A covered dish dinner was enjoyed in the rumpus room and ping pong was played.

A gift from the group was presented to the guest of honor. Mrs. Bethtel also was present. Mr. Bechtel had been custodian at the school for six years.

Officers Elected By Astowela Club

At the Astowela Garden club's last meeting of the year, officers for 1943 were elected. They are president, Mrs. Richard Fensch; vice president, Mrs. York Dirlam; secretary, Mrs. Frank Cummins and treasurer, Mrs. A. L. Price. Hostesses were Mrs. L. W. Birch and Mrs. Dean Rex, who entertained at the Birch home, 591 Park avenue west.

The luncheon was served by Mrs. C. V. McConnell and Mrs. York Dirlam. Mrs. George Holland presented the program, which consisted of a review of Dorothy Graham's book, "Chinese Gardens." She told the traditional meanings of flowers handed down for centuries by the Chinese; their garden plans; and their methods of flower care.

Linnaeus Club Holds Meeting

A dessert luncheon was served to 11 members of the Linnaeus Garden club at the home of Mrs. Marion Brinkerhoff. The table was attractively decorated with an arrangement of vegetables and flowers.

Mrs. I. D. Wallington talked most entertainingly on the subject, Planning Our Herb Garden. Mrs. F. E. Taylor described the herb, rue, which she is growing in her garden. The next meeting will be a luncheon at the Mansfield-Leland hotel on Oct. 23. This will be followed by a meeting at the Garden Center and a discussion of the herbs there.

SOCIETY & CLUBS

Bible Club Names New Officers at Dinner Meeting

Fifty-five members of the J. D. Wilcox Bible class of the First Christian church met at Prospect park pavilion Wednesday evening. Officers elected are president, Edward Kindinger; vice president, David Hughes; secretary, Mrs. Raymond Patterson; treasurer, Mrs. Merle Beer; assistant secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Tom Davis.

A baseball quiz and moving pictures were features of the social hour. Luncheon was served at long tables and decorations consisted of autumn leaves, orange and blue streamers and candles. Committee for the evening was comprised of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Mayer, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Warne, Rev. and Mrs. B. F. Hagelbarger, Mr. and Mrs. Merle Beer, Mr. and Mrs. Hildreth Johns and Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Laser. Next meeting will be held Nov. 4.

Entertains the Pythian Sisters

The regular meeting of the Pythian Sisters took place Friday evening at the K. of P. hall, with Mrs. Mary Charles, most excellent chief in charge. Mrs. Ethel Smith reported on the convention held in Painesville on Sept. 21 and 22. The district Convention will be held in Londonville on Oct. 21.

Following the business meeting a social time was enjoyed and prizes were awarded to Miss Pearl Weirman, Mrs. Miriam Hoffman, Miss Betty Burgett, Mrs. Margaret Brower and Mrs. Lettie Arting. Mrs. Louise Koerper won the surprise gift. On Oct. 23 there will be a covered-dish dinner at the hall with Mrs. Smith in charge. The hostesses for Friday evenings meeting were, Mrs. Mary Hubbs, Mrs. La Doris Hess and Mrs. Leora Hamilton.

Married 50 Years Ago

MR. AND MRS. GRESMER

Tuesday will be the golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. William Gresmer, sr., of Bellville. In celebration of the event, open house will be held from 2 to 5 o'clock Sunday afternoon at the home of the couple's daughter, Mrs. L. L. Linkhart, 265 South Main street. The Gresmers were married in Crestline on Oct. 13, 1892, and resided in Mansfield 38 years before moving to Bellville a few years ago. They are the parents of Mrs. Linhart, Mrs. F. M. Banks, William Gresmer, jr., and Mrs. C. J. Baumberger, all of this city. There are five grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

Colored Slides Feature Program

The Town and Country Garden club met at the home of Mrs. Paul Lee on Forest avenue. Following the dessert luncheon, Mrs. George Emerson presided over the business meeting. After a short business session Mrs. Robert Stevens showed some very beautiful colored slides. They illustrated the extreme beauty profuseness of the vegetation around Lake Louise, throughout the Yellowstone and Yosemite National Parks, in the Redwood regions of California and the Arizona country. The Oct. meeting has been cancelled due to the joint meeting to be held at Westbrook Country club on Oct. 30. The next regular meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Henry Longsdorf on November 13.

Garden Study Club Elects Year's Officers

The Garden Study Club met with Mrs. L. E. Strain on Helen avenue for a 1 o'clock luncheon. The 12 members present were seated at small tables centered with pumpkin baskets filled with fruit.

The project committee reported that plantings had been made at John Simpson Junior high school. The following new officers were elected for the coming year, Mrs. Strain, president; Mrs. Clarence Lisle, vice president; Mrs. H. D. Bishop, secretary; Mrs. D. W. Forkner, treasurer. Mrs. Gilmore Hiett was welcomed as a new club member.

Mrs. E. C. Jenkins gave Information Please, and Mrs. Forkner gave a splendid talk on horticulture. Mrs. L. D. Bower presented a most interesting paper on the Preparation of Gardens for winter. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. R. K. Clark, Beechwood drive, Oct. 23.

Sorority Meets Friday Night

Omega Tau Gamma Sorority held their meeting last night in the club rooms. Mrs. Norval Bower, president, conducted the business meeting. The group held a discussion on the work of Nurses Aids. Mrs. Evelyn Wolfe was accepted as a new member of the sorority. Plans were made for a Thanksgiving Dance, with Mrs. Robert Farrow, Mrs. Paul C. Woodhull and Mrs. Karl Seymour in charge.

An honorary membership was granted Mrs. Robert Darling. The social meeting was in charge of Mrs. Harvey Kibler and Mrs. Darling. Bridge and Pinochle were the chief diversions. Prizes were won by Mrs. Bower, Miss Marjorie Crider, Mrs. Cloyce Hunter and Mrs. Farrow. Halloween appointments were used when a two-course luncheon was served at one long table. The next meeting will be Nov. 13, with Mrs. George Lingafelter, Mrs. Hunter and Mrs. Kibler in charge.

INSPECTION HELD

On Wednesday evening, Oct. 7, Miriam Rebekah lodge, I. O. O. F., was inspected by Mrs. Leota Falkner of Ashland. The room was decorated with ferns and fall flowers. During the evening Mrs. Clara Dent was initiated into the membership of the lodge. Nov. 7 was the date set for the rummage sale, and the district meeting will be in Mansfield on Oct. 21. Visitors were present from Ashland, Chesterville, Johnsville and Bellville.

Orbisons Give Special Dinner

In celebration of their 42nd wedding anniversary, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Orbison, 21 Brinkerhoff avenue, entertained 18 guests at a lovely dinner party at Westbrook Country club last evening. Attractive table decorations consisted of swansonia in crystal epergnes and white tapers in crystal holders.

Bridge was enjoyed during the evening and prizes were won by Mr. and Mrs. Henry Pritchard and Mrs. J. E. Brown. Mr. Orbison and the former Lura Cairns were united in marriage in Mansfield on Oct. 9, 42 years ago.

HERE AND THERE

PLEDGED to three of Ohio Wesleyan university's 11 national sororities during the past week were the following from Mansfield and vicinity: Charlotte Purdy, 405 Park avenue west, to Delta Gamma; Joan Watson, 630 Dawson avenue, and Anne Lersch, 121 Stewart avenue, to Kappa Alpha Theta, and Marjorie Sue Dowds of Shelby to Pi Beta Phi. . . . Mr. and Mrs Victor S. Hawk, 215 West Fifth street, returned home recently from a trip through northern Michigan and Indiana.

* * *

After visiting with Mrs. Della Richardson, Penn avenue, Mrs. Mary Peacock and Miss Rowena Cobb of Marion, and Mrs. B. F. Mayfield of near Lexington, have returned to their respective homes. . . . Mrs. E. R. Oberlin has left for her home in Tampa, Fla., after spending the past month and a half in Mansfield and Elyria. She was accompanied by Mrs. Mary Hackeden of Elyria. While in this city as the guest of Mrs. A. J. Warne, 815 East Third street, Mrs. Oberlin was entertained with a picnic attended by friends of 30 years ago at the home of Mrs. Howard Ryan on the Bowman street road.

* * *

JANE BERKLEY and Dorothy Scott went to Columbus last night to spend the week-end with friends and to visit Jane's brother, Bill, who is a junior at Ohio State university. He is playing in the O. S. U. band at the football game with the University of Southern California this afternoon and has enlisted in the naval reserve. The son of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Berkley, 177 Poplar street, Bill will leave from Columbus Wednesday for training in the naval reserve.

THEATERS

Baseball Romance.

The romance of a famous athlete and a typical American girl is the real-life basis of "The Pride of the Yankees," Gary Cooper's starring vehicle of the life of Lou Gehrig, showing at the Ohio. Cooper plays the New York Yankee ballplayer whose untimely death from paralysis ended one of the most inspiring careers in modern sports annals. The picture takes the audience behind the scenes in Gehrig's life from boyhood to fame. Teresa Wright plays opposite Cooper as 'Mrs. Gehrig," and the cast includes Walter Brennan and Veloz and Yolanda, dancers.

* * *

Musical Comedy.

Victor Mature, John Payne and Betty Gable are starred in "Footlight Serenade," the Madison attraction, dealing with a handsome boxing champion starred in a Broadway musical show to draw the feminine trade. The production is filled with music and dancing with Miss Grable appearing in several dances with Hermes Pan, dance director. Robin and Rainger supplied the tunes. "Tombstone," with Richard Dix is the co-feature.

* * *

Comedy Drama.

Shirley Temple makes her debut in society as the granddaughter of a retired New York policeman, definitely not in society, in the lively comedy-drama, "Miss Annie Rooney," at the Park. The jitterbug tactics of the high school generation furnish laughs throughout the picture as Shirley and her crowd show a "poor little rich boy" how to have fun. Dickie Moore appears in the latter role and Roland DePure, William Gargan and Guy Kibbee are in the cast. "Gentlemen After Dark," with Brian Donlevy and Miriam Hopkins.

* * *

Gun Action.

Veronica Lake, Robert Preston and Laird Cregar furnish excitement in "This Gun For Hire," the Ritz attraction, Sunday. The blond Miss Lake plays a young girl forced to accompany a psycopathic young killer on his tour of crime. Alan Ladd plays the role of the killer and Preston the part of the girl's detective-sweetheart. "Broadway," with George Raft and Pat O'Brien is the second attraction.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

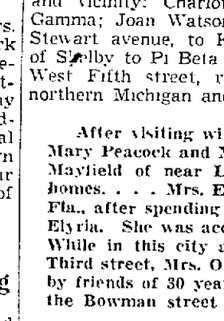
"The Authority on Authorities"

CREATING A FINESSE

Having the necessary number of entries or re-entries into one of the declarer's two holdings is utterly vital to the success of many contracts. All manner of peculiar devices must be used at time to accomplish that desideratum. Upon rare occasions it is necessary to ruff a trick with a high trump and thus put yourself in a position where it is absolutely necessary to try a finesse which previously seemed non-existent. By creating the risk of losing that finesse, you also create the only possible choice to make your contract.



(Dealer North Neither side vulnerable)

North	East	South	West
1 ♠	Pass	1 ♦	1 ♠
2 ♦	2 ♠	3 ♦	3 ♠
Pass	Pass	4 ♦	Pass
Pass	4 ♥	Dbl	4 ♠

Funny bidding can develop when neither side is vulnerable. Nobody can say, however, that the bidding of this deal was not spirited. West got into a most optimistic contract, but had a fine chance to make it. He did not, though—more's the pity.

North took in his club A and K, then shifted to the heart Q, the K covering and the A winning. South then decided to try for another heart trick, leading the 10, which West ruffed with the spade 4. Now the declarer had his chance to make the contract. But see what he did. He ruffed the diamond 3 with the spade 8, then cashed the dummy's spade K and Q. Unable to get back to his own hand except with a ruff, he used his spade A on a heart lead, cashed his top two diamonds and then was through, having to lose the last three tricks.

If West has used one of dummy's high trumps, say the Q, to ruff the diamond 3, he could have raked in the other high trump there, then could have hazarded his all on a finesse of the spade 10, which would have won, could have dropped the last hostile trumps with the A, and then could have completed the hand with two high diamonds and three clubs. It was an opportunity for very pretty play, such as seldom is offered in a neater form.

* * *

Your Week-End Lesson.

After a not-vulnerable dealer at your right bids 1-Spade, which of the two hands below is better adapted for an overcall of 2-Hearts if you are vulnerable, and why?

1. ♠ 8 5 ♥ A K 6 4 2 ♦ A 7 5 ♣ 6 3 2

2. ♠ 8 5 ♥ Q J 10 9 8 3 ♦ K Q J ♣ 3 2

"Pitfalls of Love"

(A Sequel to Marriage Meddlers)

By ADELE GARRISON

But at the end of the five minutes Miss Whitlock had told Carolyn she must rest after her swoon, I wondered if the girl really knew when she was "up against a stone wall."

For while she scrupulously refrained from any rudeness to me, her first words so astounded me that I wondered if I had heard her correctly.

"I told you there was something I must do right away," she said tensely. "I must talk to that man—for five minutes, alone."

"No, no!" I exclaimed, but to my surprise my father rose abruptly, and went to Carolyn.

"Say that again, Carolyn," he said kindly. "What is it you must do?"

For an answer she turned her head and asked Dicky:

"Are you sure the man in there is the younger of the two men we saw that day on the way home from Weirhampton?"

Carolyn's Demand.

"He is the collegiate gangster in person," Dicky said. "I can give you my oath on that."

"Then," to my father, "I must talk to him alone for five minutes—all alone. You don't know what it means."

"Can't you tell us why, Carolyn, and let us help you?" my father asked gently.

"No, no no!" she said raucously. "Perhaps, after I talk to him, I can tell you something, but I must talk to him alone."

"That might be arranged," he said at last, much to my surprise.

"But," my father went on, "we shall have to take precautions for your safety. Miss Whitlock will fasten you to your chair, and the chair to the wall, so that, no matter what he may say you will be unable to go near him."

"Go near him!" Carolyn flamed. "Do you think—"

"I think, my dear girl," my father said, "that no matter what your feelings are, that gangster has some hold on you which would make you obey him, so we will make it impossible for you to go within reaching distance of him, and he will be chained to that post, like the wild beast he is."

Carolyn Agrees.

"I'm — I'm glad he will be chained," she said through white lips, and I'll let Miss Whitlock tie me up any way you say."

"You are wise," my father told her. "Now, if all of you women will just step into that small room back of you, Richard and I will summon guards and bring the young man out. I do not wish him to see you, Carolyn, or know you are here, until he is securely chained."

I surmised that he wished later to witness the effect on the man of Carolyn's unexpected presence.

"Put the women all in that room, Richard," he said, as he picked up the telephone again. "And—yes, you'd better lock the door. We're taking no chances on that lad."

Tygers Lose Third Straight Game to Niles 16 to 0

Sport Podge by REX HESS

"What's with this transportation problem?" beamed Harry Mehock, athletic director of Mansfield schools, in the manner of a man without a worry in the world.

"You know, there were some suggestions this fall that we limit our junior high football season to two games between Johnny Appleseed and John Simpson, cutting out all trips for ourselves and likely opponents," said Mehock.

"But that would have been no season at all, and wouldn't have come close to developing the junior high football feeder system of which we've become so proud. So we went ahead and booked some games.

* * *

"This week we made our first trip when Johnny Appleseed journeyed to Galion, and we needed three cars to take the kids to the scene of combat.

"And how many do you suppose we had on hand when we packed up for the trip?

"Just 11 cars that's all

* * *

"It seems the fathers still want to see their kids play football," mused Mehock, "and as long as that condition continues, our transportation problem won't be too great."

* * *

Simpson and Appleseed meet in the first of their two games next Friday afternoon at 4:30 at Stadium field.

And perhaps it's too bad that they are meeting this early in the season, with each team having only one game under its belt. The rivalry will be there, and the crowd will be there, but it can't expect to see as good a game as the two junior highs are bound to put up when they tangle in a night game later in the season. The teams just can't be prepared this early in the going.

* * *

Both Appleseed and Simpson, victorious in their opening games, show promise of developing into real ball clubs this fall

I didn't get to see Appleseed at Galion, but I did see Simpson win over Ashland and truth to tell the boys need a lot of practice before they click as a unit in the way their individual ability indicates they should

"That line is going to need a lot of work," declared Coach Jeff DeHaven "We needed this game with Ashland to give us some contact experience My second team is so much weaker than the first, that scrimmage for us is just a track meet and doesn't do the boys any good"

* * *

But DeHaven has gained a reputation as being quite a coach of inexperienced youngsters, so you can look for considerable improvement when his Bulldogs tangle with Appleseed's Pioneers next Friday afternoon.

Bears, Dodgers Defend Records

CHICAGO —(INS)— The Chicago Bears and the Brooklyn Dodgers, respective leaders of the Western and Eastern divisions of the National Football league, will attempt to maintain their unbeaten records in tomorrow's game. Each team has won two games in as many starts this season.

Back home for a month's stay, the Bears, two-year champions of the league, oppose the Chicago Cardinals who lost a disputed 17 to 13 decision to the Green Bay Packers last Sunday. The Cardinals' task of upsetting the Bears tomorrow will be complicated by the return to the Bear lineup of Hugh Gallarneau and Lee Artoe, who were held out of last week's Cleveland contest. Sid Luckman, the Bears' master of the "T," injured four weeks ago, is also ready to play against the Cards.

The Dodgers will oppose the Pittsburgh Steelers, 13 to 10 conquerors of the New York Giants in last Sunday's outstanding upset. The Steelers' victory over the Giants represented their first win in three starts in league competition. The Dodgers tomorrow will open a six-weeks stand.

Madison Iron Men Battle

Rams Hold Columbus North to 19-0 Score.

MADISON high school's battling Rams surprised their most enthusiastic followers last night when they held a powerful Columbus North team to a 19-0 score.

* * *

The Rams were real "Iron Men" last night, every member of the starting lineup playing every minute of the game as Coach Al Fendrick found no reason for substitutions.

* * *

Vicious tackling marked the play of the scrappy Rams, who were defeated by one man, a colored backfield star named Clark who tallied twice in the first quarter on reverses, and again in the third period on a pass.

Undaunted by the 12-0 score at the end of the first stanza, the Rams kept the play within the two 40-yard markers throughout the second quarter

* * *

Madison put on its best drive of the game in the third period marching to the North 20-yard-line only to lose the ball on a fumble.

* * *

In the fourth period Harold Hammer got off a quick kick that went 64 yards and out of bounds on the North nine yard line, and the game ended with North still trying to get out of its own territory.

Galion Wins Over Bucyrus

Upset Old Rivals In N. C. O. League Battle.

Galion's resurgent Orangemen upset the dope last night again with a 7-0 North Central Ohio league victory over then Crawford county neighbors from Bucyrus for then second loop win of the season and their second in four years.

The two long-standing rivals staged a bitter fight in the mud but Coach Jimmy Lymper's boys were not to be denied this night, and after losing a touchdown on a 60 yard run by Schaeffer through a clipping penalty, the Orangemen battled back down the field to score on a line plunge by Bill Stoner.

* * *

Stoner's hard running and brilliant kicking highlighted the game. It was his long run that put Galion in scoring position. Ernst booted the extra point.

* * *

In the only other N C O game Ashland overpowered the small Shelby Whippets 40-0 as expected

Marion, co-favorite with Ashland for the league title, traveled to Lima for an 8-7 edge over Central, while Mt. Vernon lost a 21-0 decision on Wooster.

Two of Mansfield high's future opponents tangled last night with Springfield running wild over Portsmouth 26-7 And two of the Tygers' past opponents also got together with Elyria defeating Sandusky 19-13

* * *

Mighty Massillon marched over a hitherto undefeated Alliance team 33-0, and Canton McKinley swarmed over Warren 39-13. Some hope that the Tygers might yet win a game held out when Toledo Woodward, last team on the Mansfield schedule, was swamped by Defiance 38-0.

* * *

Other games of interest in the Mansfield area saw Fredericktown trouncing Loudonville 16-6, Crestline staging a comeback for an 8-6, win over Upper Sandusky, New London losing to Amherst 22-0, and Willard dropping a 6-21 verdict to Port Clinton.

Crestline won its game in the last few minutes of play when Emmer tackled an Upper Sandusky ball carrier back of the goal line for the safety which gave them a two-point margin. Upper Sandusky scored in the third period, and Crestline came back with a touchdown in the fourth on a pass from Barlion to Beck.

Bellville held Mt. Gilead to a scoreless tie last night, and lost a scoring chance through a fumble. Both teams were battling for their first victory of the season, and appeared well matched

Mt. Gilead had 10 first downs to five for Bellville, and completed three out of five passes while Bellville completed one out of two.

Butler traveled to Centerburg where they lost a 14-0 decision.

PHILADELPHIA — Frankie Carto 127 Philadelphia outpointed Bobby Henderson 127, New York (10).

PORTLAND Ore — Manuel Ortiz, 121¼, El Centro Cal., defeated Nat Corum, 121½, Honolulu (10).

North Carolina Tarheels Lead South

One of North Carolina's backfield combinations which has been clicking on the southern gridiron works out for the camera. From the left we have Joe Austin, Walt Pupa, Clay Croom and Billy Myers. Young Myers, a soph, is one of the stars of the team.

Irish Mentor Misses Game

Leahy Seeks Defense For His Microbes.

NEW YORK—(AP)—Notre Dame goes into its make-or-break contest with Stanford today minus its regular boss and Michigan's Fritz Crisler is out to break his own personal jinx in a battle with Lieut. Col Bernie Bierman's Iowa Seahawks in a pair of the day's better football games.

* * *

While Frank Leahy is in a Rochester clinic trying to devise a defense for his microbes, his Irish eleven seeks its first victory since the installation of the T-formation with Stanford as the victim. Thirty-thousand spectators are expected at South Bend.

* * *

At the same time, Crisler will be sending one of Michigan's better teams against the Bierman Seahawks in the hope that for the first time he will out-master mind the gray-haired marine Not even during the era of the famed Tommy Harmon was Crisler ever able to defeat a Bierman coached team.

Those struggles share the spotlight with such others as Southern California's invasion of Ohio State, the meeting of Wisconsin and Missouri, both unbeaten, at Madison; Mississippi and Georgia in a Southeast conference affair, Rice and Tulane at New Orleans; Oklahoma and Texas at Dallas and the Santa Clara-California tussle on the coast

In the east the Boston Eagles, with 74 of Coach Denny Myers' 75 players in tip-top shape, are primed to avenge the surprise drubbing Clemson administered a year ago and Princeton and Navy will entertain 35 000 in New York's Yankee stadium

Fordham's line has been patched in an effort to hold back the North Carolina ball carriers and Columbia and Paul Governali entertain Brown and Bob Margarita. Neither Brown nor Columbia has been defeated this season

* * *

At New Haven, Conn., Mrs. H H. Odell of Sioux City, Ia., will be in the stands as Yale, coached by her son Howie, mixes with Pennsylvania, on which another son, Robert, is the star halfback.

* * *

Minnesota, its winning streak stopped last Saturday moves against Illinois, which hasn't lost since Ray Eliot took charge Purdue, beaten in every outing this season, seems destined to suffer again, this time with Northwestern the victor.

In last night's prelude to today's activities, Temple was held to a surprising 7 to 7 tie by Bucknell, and Drake upset St Louis, 19 to 9, in a Missouri Valley conference game.

NEW YORK—(Wide World)—Football may or may not be the best preparation for war, but it's a cinch nothing else short of war gets the boys steamed up quite as much as the gridiron game . . . right now there's an argument in the pro league over whether Referee Bobbie Cahn blew a slow or fast whistle in last week's Packers Cardinals game, the Eastern Packers are het up about Harvards shift and North Carolinians are protesting mildly because Rice waited until about ten days before their game was scheduled to call it off because of "transportation difficulties."

Jackets Win Over Bishops

Wesleyan Toppled From Ranks of Undefeated.

COLUMBUS —(INS)— Today's Ohio collegiate grid menu offers the most attractive program of the season thus far with 17 top notch contests, 10 against out-of-state foes.

Dayton's invasion of Tennessee for a clash with the unbeaten Vols ranks second only to the top intersectional fray of the nation, Southern California at Ohio State Dayton is at the helm of the Buckeye college picture with three consecutive victories but the Vols conquerors of Fordham 40-14 last week, are expected to pin their ears back today.

* * *

Ohio Wesleyan was toppled from the ranks of undefeated last night as Baldwin-Wallace tripped the Bishops up, 19-7, under the Kleigs at Berea. Findlay scored a major upset as they rolled out of the Ohio conference cellar with a 19-9 conquest of Muskingum.

* *

Syracuse proved a little too much for Western Reserve, handing the Wildcats a 13-0 setback, their second is as many weeks. Wilbertorce and Youngstown upheld the Buckeye honors against out-of-state opposition with a 13-7 win over Tuskegee and a 40-6 triumph over Western Kentucky Teachers respectively.

Included on today's program are four Ohio conference tilts.

The schedule·

Dayton at Tennessee, Southern California at Ohio State, Ohio Northern at Wittenberg, Kenyon at Otterbein, Oberlin at Denison, Heidelberg at Wooster, Bowling Green at Ball State Teachers, Hiram at Westminster, Centre at Cincinnati, Case at Carnegie Tech, Butler at Ohio U, Western Michigan at Toledo, Capital at Bluffton, Kent State at Miami, Tusculum at Rio Grande and Miami Radios at DePauw.

John Carroll plays at Xavier tomorrow night.

Southern Cal Seeks Revenge

Brown Predicts Tough Game Decided on Breaks.

By FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS —(AP)— With hopes of revenge for last season's surprising 33 to 0 defeat uppermost in their minds, Southern California's Trojans invaded the Buckeye capital today for a football clash with Ohio State—an intersectional fray expected to attract 60,000.

* * *

The Trojans, coached by Jeff Cravath, had a loss to Tulane and a scoreless deadlock with Washington to show for their efforts thus far, while Ohio had impressive wins over Fort Knox and Indiana. However, the Bucks were given only a slight edge over the speedy, aerial-minded west coast crew.

* * *

Southern Cal, featuring a wide-open offense built around a floating back, was expected to find its scoring punch against the Bucks, who yielded three touchdowns to Indiana a week ago while piling up five of their own

"We hope to give a good account of ourselves, but after all the day of miracles is past," Cravath asserted

Coach Paul E Brown of Ohio State, in summing up the prospects, said:

'Southern Cal has an intricate offense, to the kind that takes a while to get set. Utter precision is necessary, and from what we've been able to find out, the Trojans are nearing perfection It looks like a tough game — with the breaks probably deciding the issue."

* * *

The Bucks attack, stifled a bit due to the absence of sophomore Dante Lavelli from left end, is expected to blossom against the Trojans, the Hudson high grad being back in shape after early-season injuries.

* * *

The Bucks will be outweighed slightly in both the line and balltoting corps, and in speed the teams are rated about even. In precision and condition, however, the Bucks are given the edge the long train ride from the coast probably not having helped the invaders in either department

Alsab, Whirlaway Race Again Today

NEW YORK —(AP)— An argument that has given spice to the late season racing will be settled at Belmont park today when Warren Wright's Whirlaway, world's top money winning horse, and Mrs. Albert Sabath's Alsab, high ranking three-year-old, match strides in the two and quarter miles of the $25,000 New York handicap

* * *

The four-year-old Whirlaway and his younger rival have tangled twice and come out all-square. Alsab hung it on the horse with a long tail by the narrowest of margins in their match race at Narragansett park. A week ago Whirly evened the count by taking the two-mile Jockey club gold cup at Belmont with a length separating the pair.

* * *

Eleven others have been named for the third running of America's longest stake on the flat but only Townsend B Martin's Bolingbroke is given a chance of spoiling the Whirlaway-Alsab duel

Mansfield Fails to Stop Blocky Paul Zorn

Referee's Decision on Clipping Penalty Arouses Crowd's Wrath

MANSFIELD TYGERS didn't stop Paul Zorn, blocky, hard-running, one-man team from Niles last night at Stadium field, and the third straight defeat was marked down in the books against the Tygers, a 16-0 pasting by the Red Dragons

There was little deception in the Niles attack as far as the ultimate ball carrier was concerned. It was Zorn on nearly every play Sometimes he was stopped but not always and it was his 36-yard touchdown run in the fourth quarter on a cutback off tackle that sewed up the ball game

* * *

The Tygers showed improvement last night, and at times they looked like a ball team, but their old failing cropped up to haunt them as Niles recovered Mansfield fumbles all over the lot.

* * *

Yes, and the Tygers showed fight, too twice holding the Dragons inside the five-yard line but the first goal-line stand was followed by an error in judgment that presented the visitors with two points, enough to win the game

Early in the game a punt by Zorn was downed on the Mansfield two-yard line, and on the next play Schmidt fumbled and Niles recovered on the five A five-yard penalty against the Dragons helped, and Mansfield held for downs on the one-yard mark Instead of punting out of danger, the Tygers elected to run with the ball, and McBride was spilled back of the goal line for a safety.

The rest of the first half was played in Mansfield territory, but Niles never seriously threatened again.

* * *

Mansfield looked dangerous for a brief moment at the start of the second half when a 70-yard kickoff return took the ball to Niles' 20-yard mark, but on the second play Niles recovered another fumble.

* * *

The start of the fourth quarter saw Niles back on its 31, but that was just the starting point for a touchdown drive. In three plays Zorn took the ball to the Mansfield 46 and there with fourth down and a foot to go Zorn flashed past five Mansfield tacklers and raced to a touchdown Zorn booted the point and it was 9 to 0.

After the next kickoff Mansfield lost 10 yards in penalties back to its 17-yard line, and as Schmidt went back to pass he was hit, fumbled and Niles recovered on the five DePascal charged through tackle to score standing up, and Koszonyi kicked the point.

Then came the only really interesting moment of the game for the crowd as the officials also fumbled.

* * *

Jim Burrage, Mansfield left end, going down under a punt, was plainly clipped on the Niles 15-yard line. The referee's whistle blew, and his handkerchief was carefully laid on the place where Burage had been clipped.

* * *

But—the 15-yard penalty was stepped off against Mansfield, not against Niles, bringing the ball out to midfield instead of back on the Niles goal line. The crowd booed loud and long, but Referee Jay Winters refused to retrace his steps, and Niles charged back down the field in scoring position once more, only to be stopped on the Mansfield 25.

Winters explanation after the game? 'I called clipping on another play. I didn't see Burrage clipped." Yet he called the penalty at the place where Burrage was clipped.

' He couldn't fool the 4,000 fans who saw it. And a large part of the crowd gathered around him after the game to argue about it.

AMERICANS HIT HARDEST BLOW YET FROM AIR

Fliers Jubilant at Score as They Return From Big Daylight Attack.

army bombers and 500 Allied fighters, four planes were lost—two Fortresses and two Consolidateds. One of the Consolidateds made a crash landing on the English coast and its crew was safe.

Admit Attack By 'Considerable' Force

BERLIN — (German broadcast recorded by (U.P) at New York—The German high command said today that "a considerable number" of bombers—some of American design—were shot down yesterday during daylight raids over northern France and Belgium.

The high command said in a communique that "fierce dogfights" occurred and that the Luftwaffe lost but one plane.

Allied Planes Smash At Axis In Desert

CAIRO — (U.P.) — American air units joined with those of their Allies in a daylight smash at Axis desert airfields yesterday, it was announced today, sharing in a bag of at least 20 Axis planes shot down in the air and many more blasted to bits on the ground.

U. S. headquarters announced that American fighters carried out more than a score of sorties during the big desert sweep, escorting bomber squadrons and engaging in ground-strafing missions.

The fighters reported shooting down one Messerschmitt 109. Two more were scored as probables and at least one more was damaged.

The fighters destroyed a number of trucks by gunfire and set afire some Nazi tanks on the desert. Three or more gun emplacements were blown up.

Wreak Havoc On Japs In New Britain Raid

GEN. MacARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Australia, — (U.P.) — Docks, machine shops, supply depots, barracks and defense installations of the greatest Japanese base in the southwest Pacific lay in ruin today after a shattering attack by Allied heavy bombing planes on Rabaul, in New Britain Island of the Bismarcks.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur put into the attack the greatest force of heavy bombers ever used in this theater to smash a base which is a constant menace to the Marines in the Solomons and his own forces in New Guinea.

Driving through furious anti-aircraft gun fire, consolidated Catalina medium bombers hit the Rabaul area in the dead of night, showering incendiaries throughout the target area.

The biggest force of Flying Fortresses ever sent against a target in this zone followed up with 60 tons of demolition bombs, picking their targets by the light of fires and explosions the incendiaries had caused.

While some planes attacked base targets, others blew up enemy gun batteries and searchlight positions.

Eighty miles from Rabaul, on their way home, the plane crews still saw the fires.

TELL OF SINKING

Navy Officials Reveal Loss of Norwegian Ship.

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The navy announced today that a medium-sized Norwegian merchant ship had been sunk by combined torpedo and shell fire attack by an enemy submarine in the mid-Atlantic during August but that the 36-man crew escaped safely.

The crewmen have been landed in this country.

INJURED IN FALL

WILLARD—F. A. Richards, 71, was admitted to Municipal hospital Friday evening after falling from an 18-foot ladder while picking apples at his farm west of here. The extent of his injuries have not been determined, hospital attendants said.

News Briefs

Executive Meeting—The executive committee of the Mansfield Community Fund will meet Monday at 4 p. m. at the Fund headquarters for the October session, it was announced today.

Trumpet Stolen — Mrs. A. H. Baker, 129 East Second street, reported to police today that her daughter's trumpet had been stolen from the locker room of John Simpson Junior high school. The instrument was valued at $30.

Navy Talk and Pictures — Charles Sholtz, jr., chief petty officer of the United States navy, will be the speaker at next Tuesday's meeting of the Rotary club, to be held at the Mansfield-Leland hotel, with Dr. S. E. Findley as program chairman. A navy film will be shown in connection with the talk.

Owners Sought — Police are of the opinion that owners of two tires recently turned in at central station have encountered no ration troubles, or that they live far away. One tire was found along Ashland road a week ago while the other tire, with rim and cover, was found a few mornings ago in the yard of a Wayne street home.

Cab in Collision — Autos operated by Otis Perry, 117½ North Main street, a cab driver, and Mrs. Christine Zahn, 103 Wolf avenue, were damaged in a collision at Sixth and Diamond streets yesterday evening. Mrs. Zahn told Motorcycle Patrolman Charles Letizia that the taxi went past her car when she slowed up for the intersection, the cab sideswiping her vehicle.

In Radio Post — Bert Geib, formerly of Mansfield, is chief operator of the Findlay district station of the state highway patrol, according to a letter to his brother Louis of near Loudonville. Geib, while an employe of Westinghouse, maintained the city police radio system and was active in local amateur radio circles. He recently was promoted from the Massillon district to the Findlay office which contacts nine patrol posts covering more than 20 northwestern Ohio counties.

MIXED TRENDS CLOUD TODAY'S STOCK TRADES

Retail Store Share Holders Encouraged by Boost In Food Prices.

NEW YORK — Trends were slightly mixed in today's early stock market proceedings.

At a fairly active opening, gainers of fractions included Du Pont, General Electric, Goodyear, Allied Chemical and Radio Corp. off a shade were Pennsylvania, Chrysler, General Motors, U. S. Steel and U. S. Rubber.

Holders of retail company shares derived some satisfaction from the Office of Price administration allowing moderate increases in charges for 11 major groups of foods. The step was taken as a means of inducing dealers to restock hundreds of items which have been disappearing from store shelves because of what was teamed a "profit squeeze."

U. S. WARPLANES PROVE ABILITY

American Correspondent Who Has Seen Them Warns Against Rumors.

itself the top plane in the air for one specific purpose—low level operation in close coordination with land forces.

The Mustang, a low-wing monoplane, powered with an 1150-horsepower Allison engine, is well-armored, heavily-gunned and maneuverable. Up to 15,000 feet it is possibly the best performing fighter in the air. With a heavier motor, experts say, it would be unbeatable.

Above 15,000 feet, however, the Mustang is a sitting pigeon—or almost that, for the high climbing, faster Spitfires, Messerschmitts and Focke-Wulf 190's. The lesson, the experts say, is to use the Mustang for army cooperation—the field in which it is tops and not to judge it by fighter plane standards.

The Boeing Flying Fortress has been a great center of controversy. But most of these controversies are being exploded by actual performance under fighting conditions.

Some of the criticisms of the Fortresses were valid enough, but were directed at earlier models. The Boeing four-motored bomber popularly called the Flying Fortress is now up—on the officially released list—to the designation B-17E.

That means the current model is the fifth improved Fortress to take the air. Whether there are models beyond the B-17E series, the army will not say.

The combination of defensive armament, speed, and sharp-shooting bombing ability from altitudes of 20,000 and above, have forced even the bitterest critics to admit the Fortress has no peer as a daylight bomber.

The U. S. planes which the experts are most anxious to see tested in this war zone are the Lockheed P-38, called the Lightning by the British, and the Republic P-47, the Thunderbolt.

The Lockheed is a twin-motor low-wing fighter, powered with two 1150-horsepower Allison engines and rated by the U. S. Army as "the fastest military airplane in the world."

The P-47, or more properly the P-47B, is generally regarded as the "hottest" fighter in the American air armory. It has a 2,000-horsepower Pratt and Whitney radial air-cooled engine and is rated by American experts as the fastest single-engined plane in the world.

Until the Thunderbolt and Lightning have been tested in the laboratory of war it cannot be said definitely that they are the top planes in their respective categories. But in the opinion of experts who have seen them all, the U. S. planes are odds-on bets to come through that test with flying colors

UNREST GROWING

STOCKHOLM — (INS)— Evidence of widespread unrest and discontent in Germany was disclosed today in private reports from Berlin declaring that 1,000 persons were jailed in the Reich capital on September 18 for grumbling, "passive resistance" and failure to cooperate wholeheartedly in national socialist program.

Most of those arrested were said to be from the intellectual and professional groups, and many were women.

PASSING DREAM

By Margaret Gorman Nichols

(Copyright, 1942.)

CHAPTER XVII

Her mother's eyes worshipped her, too, but with more restraint. She did not ask Temple any of the intimate things she wanted to ask her. Even a mother had not the right. Instead she inquired about the boarding house and Temple's work and the feeling in Washington concerning the war. She was thinking that although Temple seemed thinner, she looked happier. "But no," she thought quickly, "that wasn't quite right either." Temple did not look happier. She looked rather as though her old resentments had died with the much younger Temple who had left home in January. For there was maturity in the Temple who came home in August. Why, she wondered? Why won't they ever tell their mothers? Why must they think that to their mothers they must always be nice little girls untouched by experience and mistakes? She thought, I was that way, too . . .

She said, "Dr. McCormick came back last week-end to see the Reynolds. Virginia told me where he is stationed, but I'm afraid I've forgotten. It isn't Dr. McCormick now, but Captain McCormick."

Allison giggled. "Oh, Temple, you should see him in uniform. He looked wonderful!"

Harry . . . How remote! He might have been some figure out of her childhood. When she looked at her mother, she thought, "If I had a daughter, I wouldn't want her to do what I did. I'd want to be there when she was married. Will it hurt you? Will you ever forgive me?"

She went for a walk that afternoon, with Allison hurrying at her side. She stopped to talk to people she knew. When she walked across the campus over earth that she had loved and left, it was as though she had been gone a long time. It was only that she had lived a long time in the space of a few months. And Jud walked invisibly beside her, seeing her town and her school . . . Oh, they would come back together, "my husband and I" . . . But where would they live? How long, how long before there would be peace and order again and people could plan their lives and their homes and their families? How long before a young man was not a number to be called, but an individual with a name and a job of his own choosing?

She visited only her family though several people telephoned. It had been so much easier that she had thought to take her roots elsewhere, but there was sadness in the realization that they would never grow again whence they had sprung. Now she was a visitor in her home. Though she could not speak of her marriage, she felt married; and her home would be with Jud after the war. Nothing would ever be as it had been. "You can never go back," Paula had said.

When Temple returned to Washington and the people in the house returned, sunburned and refreshed, and letters from Jud came at least twice weekly, the feeling of being married grew upon her. She now began to pause before windows containing furniture and to read newspaper and magazine articles on interior decoration. One day on her lunch hour she bought linens that were on sale after that each week added to the small collection for which room had to be made in the already crowded dresser. At times she regarded that dresser with defiance, thinking, "I will look ahead! I will!"

* * *

Temple's moods ran up and down the scale from high cheer to dark despair. At times she was very happy and could see the war ending soon and Jud coming back. She saw them going home, to her home, to announce their marriage and then making a home for themselves. But that home was not in Washington. It was always in some place less crowded. She saw them sitting before a fire on winter nights and sailing a boat together in the summer. She saw them inseparable. There was a place—there would be a place—for his frivolous mother. A visit now and then cheerfully tolerated. Yet the dark thoughts that it would be a long war and that he would never come back or if he did he would be so changed they would not know each other, came, less frequently than the good thoughts. One dream had passed. This was the new dream, and this new dream was the essence of her.

* * *

Abby had changed. Rather Abby's appearance had changed. Gone were the drab, shapeless clothes, the sensible oxfords and the flat, uninteresting waves in her dark hair. Temple, who loved pretty clothes went shopping with her and saw a hairdresser lift Abby's heavy hair and arrange it in a soft roll around her well-shaped head. And Temple thought, "If Miles loved you the way you were, why do you want to change? I don't want to change for Jud. I want to be exactly the same."

Walking back to the house, holding her old hat in her hand Abby said, "It isn't that I've lacked vanity. It's just that I thought I was hopeless. Because I was plain and studious, my family called me an old maid even when I was a child. So I got to believing I was. It was so much bother to be working on your hair and thinking about what you were going to wear. It was too much trouble.

"I was playing bridge one night in a girl's apartment and Miles came in with her brother. When he took me home I didn't know what to say to him. I'd never known any men outside business. I couldn't believe it when he said he wanted to see me again. I didn't drink or smoke or dance. He doesn't either. Out of the whole world I had found someone like me. Since I've known him I've often thought of trying to look more attractive, but somehow I always bought the same kind of clothes and my hair always fell in the same waves." She laughed. "I feel undressed with my ears showing!"

That evening Temple was in the dining-room when Abby came down to dinner. For several minutes there was a lull in conversation because Abby was wearing a smart light blue dress and tall-heeled white sandals and something most becoming had happened to her hair. No one before had ever realized that her eyes and teeth were beautiful. Nor did Abby hurry to her chair to escape the startled glances. She came in slowly, smiling at Temple. Other than having a young man ask to see her again, Temple thought, coming in the dining-room this August night was the most dramatic thing that had ever happened to Abby. It was the first time that people had stopped to look at her.

* * *

Autumn came, bringing coolness and her long-anticipated plan to go to Jud. It also brought Paula back from the north. Two nights before she was to leave for Florida Temple had dinner with Paula at a table by the window in Paula's living-room.

"Did you have a good summer?" Temple asked as the crisply-uniformed maid moved between them.

Paula shrugged green velvet shoulders. "Oh, so-so. It was just the same old thing with all due respect to my various hostesses who tried hard. But when I was in one place, I thought the next would be better. When it wasn't, I thought that home was the best of all places. And now that I'm back—" She shook her head and her fingers drummed on the blond wood.

She looked down at her drumming fingers. "Yes, it's like that. If something doesn't happen to me soon, I'll have an expensive nervous breakdown out of sheer boredom. Oh, but don't pay any attention to me, darling! Just one of my moods. When I get like this, it scares me. I'm always afraid I'm going to get interested in a man . . . as if I didn't know what that was from start to finish. But come now . . . Tell me about you. How long has it been since—"

"Since May?" Temple said. Her heart was singing. Two more nights and then Jud, waiting for her . . . She could be sure of that . . . How wonderful it was to be sure of something again!

Paula laughed. "You look so composed and confident. Youth composed and confident while older people drum tables and take pills to make them sleep. I don't like me any more, Temple. I used to like me quite a lot. I used to pat myself on the back occasionally and tell myself I'd done all right. I had plenty of money and no responsibility. I couldn't get out of by picking up the phone. Perhaps it's the fever of the times of these middle years when you are neither young nor old."

She stopped suddenly and smiled rather grimly. "This is quite beyond you and I'm not being at all amusing. I'm thinking of moving and getting some new things. I think these pictures are making faces at me. All of which probably adds up to 'Don't let this happen to you'."

Temple said, "It isn't likely." Tonight she felt that only the best things would happen to her in the future.

Dial 3763-6 To Give Your Scrap To The Richland Victory Civic Committee

★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Here's How YOU Can Get In The SCRAP

IF YOU LIVE IN MANSFIELD—

1. Search attic, basement and yard. Collect the scrap and go into action. You can—
2. Call a local junk dealer. Their names are in the phone directory. They will send a collector and pay you current prices for the scrap. Or you can—
3. Donate the scrap to your favorite charity. Nearly all of the established charity services maintain scrap collection services. They call for the scrap and then receive the money from the sale of it. Or you can—
4. Donate your scrap to the Richland Victory Civic Committee and the money will be used for going-away parties for the service men and for remembrances for them. Just phone 2763-6 (the Civilian Defense number) and a scrap collector will call for your collection. Or you can—
5. Deliver your scrap yourself to any filling station or sell it to any junk yard.

IF YOU LIVE IN THE COUNTRY—

1. A farm-to-farm canvass of Richland County is being made for scrap. Either you have been or will be visited. You can—
2. Turn in your scrap to the truck that will call at your farm. Or you can—
3. Call a junk dealer in Mansfield, Shelby or other towns in the county. Their general policy is to go out in the country for loads of two tons or more. Or you can—
4. Load up your scrap and deliver it to any junk yard, your favorite charity or the Richland Victory Civic Committee, phone 3763-6.

IF YOU LIVE IN SHELBY, PLYMOUTH, SHILOH, BELLVILLE, LEXINGTON, LUCAS, Etc.—
